Boy drowns in feet water in new basement

Roger Warren Hertz, 5, of 301 Chicago Avenue, Palatine, was drowned Tuesday night in the new filled basement of a new house which his father, George Hertz, a construction worker, was building at Central Avenue and Rand road, near Mt. Prospect. The basement had not been completed, but the house was roofless, and recent rains flooded parts of the basement.

No cars crash in Prospect Heights

Failure to heed the stop sign was given as the reason for the car crash which occurred at the intersection of Elmhurst and Rand roads, June 20. According to eye witnesses, a car driven by Curtis Dahl, of Prospect Heights, failed to see the stop sign and subsequently ran into a car traveling northbound on Elmhurst road, driven by Curtis Dahl, of Prospect Heights. Dahl's car was with such force that it turned over twice and was badly damaged. Luckily, Mr. Dahl escaped serious injury.

790 American flag found by descendant in family home

Great granddaughter, Mrs. E. K. Ladd and a great-granddaughter, Jean Mari, of Joseph Well (1794-1874) holding a flag of continental days found in attic of family home 110 years old, at Half Day. Jean is holding a candle lantern and her mother flail, which was the only means known during that time for ridding grain. They were found with the flag.

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Ladd, of Half Day, recently discovered, in the attic of Mrs. Wells' only home at Half Day, for a hundred years, an American flag having 13 stars (1 for each original colony). The flag, although the stripes are tattered, is fairly well preserved as the blue background and stars are in excellent shape. Eight of the stars are in a circle with a ninth star in the center. The additional four stars are in the corners.

Gala Program Planned for 4th Celebration at Arlington

"Everything is ready for the Independence Day celebration, and this is going to be the best one Arlington Heights has ever held," said Max Warson, general chairman of the committee, early this week.

At almost the last minute it was announced by Parade Chairman Joe Wisersky that the music departments came through and that there would be a parade as usual. All organizations have been invited to participate. It is positive that the Crystal Lake Drum and Bugle Corps will brighten up the procession with music and colorful uniforms. The Fire Department will add its touch.

Clown band—new feature

One of the new features in the parade will be a clown band by the V. F. W. They will be dressed in comic costumes and the group will play some German pieces as well as other music. Of course, the patriotic organizations, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be prominent in the lineup. The Boy Scout groups, the police, the Lions club, school children and ladies auxiliaries are expected to join in the procession.

Prizes for children

Children of the community are urged to enter the parade with decorated bikes, or any type of floats. Prizes will be awarded for the best entries. Flags will be given to all children who march in the parade.

The parade will form at the South school at 9:30 and step off at 10:00, winding up at the East Side park for the patriotic ceremony.

Rev. Stevens speaker

At the park Rev. Edwin Ira Stevens, Mt. Prospect Community church, chaplain World War II, will give the address on

"Frontiers of the Flag. On display will be a flag of 13 stars.

In the afternoon those interested in sports will want to see the baseball game between the Arlington Redwings and Kenosha. Everybody should come out and root for the home team. This will be an exciting game because Kenosha has a strong team and the Redwings are going to try to beat their opponents.

On the night of the 4th, and also on Saturday night, Wally Hermsdorf and his orchestra will swing it at the fieldhouse. Dancing will be by admission both nights.

The high school band will play a concert in the open air on Friday evening at 8:30. This will be followed by the gigantic fireworks just after dusk.

Entertainment Saturday

On Saturday night the first of two big entertainment programs will be held. Vincent Gottschalk will "emcee" the acts which include Claude and Andrea, comedy dancers; Doris Bay, a contortion dancer and acrobat; and Hank, the mule. These acts were described in the Herald of June 13. The producer is Jack Everett.

Sunday night will be the show furnished by Sid Page, with Freddie Stritt as the "emcee." The acts include the Five Miamians, pyramid builders and acrobats. The Arwoods, with their trained dogs; Chick Thomas, comedian and Mary Kay, pianist of the show. These features were also described last week in the Arlington Herald.

Police chase 2-legged termites out of Arlington

Chief Skoog, Arlington Hgts., chased a two-legged "termite" out of town Monday. The term "termite," says the chief, is what the magazine, Better Homes and Gardens, gives to gyp salesmen who sell housewives "magic dirt" for lawns and gardens, house insulation, plastic paint, electrical repair jobs, etc., at prices greatly in excess of value. The dirt salesman first visited Arlington Heights last week. After he left, two Searsdale housewives had bills for $28 and $30 to present to their husbands. No complaint had been filed with the Arlington Heights police department, but when Chief Skoog noticed the "dirt" truck in front of a northside house Monday, the chief ordered the fellow out of town. The man left without a word.

Reviver of lawns?

Their method of operation is to offer the "humus" at 75c a bushel, "a great reviver of lawns," they tell the woman of the house. It appears to be rich dirt and the average woman falls for the gyp. She points out the places where the humus should be spread. She wakes up to the fact that it was not such a good bargain after all when she is presented with an invoice several times greater than she expected.

The national magazine concludes its expose with:

"The best defense against the gyp artist is a little investigation before you sign on the dotted line or pay him off. Many new firms are reliable; many door-to-door salesmen are selling honest merchandise or soliciting work which will be performed as represented. But in all such instances they'll be glad to display credentials you can trust or references you can check. It's the guy who tells you he has only one left, or that the free offer expires tomorrow, who deserves the door slam."

Call No. 6

Chief Skoog does not enjoy putting his neck out, but if any woman whose husband is not home, is confronted with one of the gyp salesmen, a call to No. 6 will bring the police car in a hurry. The "salesman" will usually leave as soon as he spies the car.

Note: Housewives who fall for such rackets should not feel bad, because there are many husbands who fall for the insulation gyp. The outside salesmen who solicit such work receive big commissions and sometimes have accomplices purporting to be salesmen from other companies, call upon the home owner quoting higher prices.

The average owner gives the job to the lowest bidder, only to find out later that his price was excessive and above that of a local firm.

These two producers and agents, Everett and Page, are vying with each other to see who can put on the most interesting show. This means that the people who view these productions will be seeing some of the best talent in the business.

Rides and games
Everybody is urged to come early and stay late, because there will be plenty of entertainment of various kinds at all times. The rides include a Ferris wheel, tilt-a-whirl, merry-go-round and a miniature train and possibly other rides. There will be booths for buying food and drinks and plenty of games of skill and other similar amusements.

The big attraction will probably be the awarding of the new Buick which will be on display at the park during the celebration. The award will be made late Sunday night.

Zoning hearings at Arlington and Palatine

Thursday night, June 26, the Zoning Board of Appeals will hold two hearings at the Arlington Heights Village Hall at 7:30 p.m. The board will hear evidence on a petition to rezone from a residence district to a business district property located on the south side of Foundry road, approximately 500 feet east of the Soo Lines in Wheeling Township.

They will also hear a petition filed by Baby Frazier Chenelek seeking to rezone from a farming district to a business district property located on the south side of Rand road, approximately one-half mile east of Wilke road, in Wheeling township.

At 8:30 p.m. at the Palatine Village Hall, the board will hear a petition seeking to rezone from a farming district to a residence district property located on the northwest corner of Kenilworth avenue and Vermont street in Palatine Township.

Racetrackers fined $30 each for theft of boy's bicycle

Judge Wm. Neuman inflicted fines of $30 each Wednesday morning upon Ray Evanowski and Stanley Kopczek, race trackers, for the theft of a bicycle on June 22 that belonged to Jack Martin. The two still had the bike in their possession when they were picked up by officers Johnson and Melbourne. They were also required to pay $7.00 for damage to the bicycle.

Restaurant man leaves wife, debts and bad check

The address of Mr. Craft, operator of the Town Pump, Arlington Heights is unknown to a number of local business men, wholesale cigarette and meat firms and Leo Grippie, owner of the place. The wife was left without funds, but was found employment in a northwest side restaurant. The Grippies have taken over the building which is being thoroughly cleaned preparatory to its reopening under the management of Harold Lamb, formerly of Prospect Heights. The creditors appear to be out of luck. It all started after a check bounced and Chief Skoog inquired of Craft if he was going to make the check good. He replied in the affirmative and was driven to Chicago to get the money. A five he phoned his wife that he had the money but would be an hour late. Nothing has been heard from him since then. After waiting two days for his appearance, Mrs. Craft got a job.

High school board now holds title to new tract

Paul E. Collins was recently named attorney for Arlington Heights Township High School board of education. The board has now acquired all of the property it desired west of Ridge ave. Condemnation proceedings were necessary to secure the final three lots after private negotiations had failed.

Illinois Bell given rate increase

Increases in telephone rates granted by the Illinois Commerce Commission will become effective in Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect and Wheeling on July 11, 1947. W. C. Lathen, Manager for the Illinois Bell Telephone Company, announced.

The new monthly rates, he explained, will be as follows:

Class of Service	New Rate
Rural residence	$2.00
4-Party residence	2.00
2-Party residence	2.50
Individual line residence	3.00
Rural business	2.50
2-Party business	4.25
Individual line business	5.00
Residence extension	.60
Business extension	1.25

Rates on long distance calls going outside Illinois are not affected, according to the telephone manager, and rates on out-of-town calls between Illinois points are increased slightly. The standard three-minute initial talking period which now applies on calls costing 30 cents or more will apply on calls taking a 15-cent or higher rate. The five-minute initial talking period will apply on calls taking the 10-cent toll rate, which will be the lowest standard rate for any toll call.

Monthly rates for subscribers having private branch exchanges will be increased by amounts depending upon the size and type of switchboard used. Certain other specialized types of equipment used by some businesses will also have some increases.

"We are glad that the Illinois Commerce Commission has recommended our critical need for more revenue by granting temporary permission to raise telephone rates," the telephone manager declared. "This increase was essential for continued good service, and came after the Company began operating in the red. Forty per cent of the increased revenue the new rates are expected to produce will go for taxes."

The ICC's action represents the first general increase we have had in 26 years, and we regret that the Commission did not grant the full amount needed in this temporary order. This is of particular importance now because our petition filed for higher rates last December did not allow for the general wage increase recently granted employees. The amount we sought was sufficient to cover only previous wage boosts and other increased expenses.

"The Company's earnings decline since 1940 had continued to the point where we were operating in the red and therefore no dividends could be paid for the second quarter of 1947. Wages and other employee payments now take 71 cents out of every dollar the customer pays us."

"In view of the complete lack of profit thus far in 1947 and the recent telephone wage increases, we shall present further evidence of the need for a permanent rate increase. We believe that an adequate return on investment will serve the best interests of the public, our employees, and our investors, who furnish the capital for service improvements."

"In addition, we're going ahead with our extensive post-war service improvement program which, already under way, will eventually provide the most modern telephone service for all who want it, when and where they want it. We are confident that the public will support this action."

Arlington man takes family and jeep on trip to Holland

John Randag, 623 N. Chestnut, Arlington Heights, is on his way to call upon his mother, brothers and sisters in Holland. Mrs. Randag, their three sons and a daughter are accompanying Mr. Randag, likewise their station wagon Jeep.

It has been 8 years since Mr. Randag has visited the country of his birth. A lot has happened since then. His father has died, his mother has lost her sight, and a brother-in-law has lost his life. Otherwise the family weathered the war very nicely.

The family left Chicago Monday on the Capital Limited for New York. They will board the S. S. Veendam for Amsterdam. They expect to tour France as well as Holland and may also visit Norway.

Baby sitters, dog lovers, other buyers easy meat for paper

Baby sitters and dog lovers are easy to find when using the classified pages of Paddock Publications. Such was the opinion of three want ad users who all got quick results from their advertising.

"I've been very busy filling painting orders. I received in response from the ad," writes Don Rose of Palatine.

"Three dollars in the World's Greatest Newspaper and in a Barrington paper brought no results, but I sold 6 puppies with one 50 cent ad in your publications," stated a resident of Palatine.

"We advertised for a baby sitter and had eight answers," stated a Mt. Prospect father. "Too bad we didn't have enough babies to hire them all."

Arlington pool opens today

Open highway safety campaign in Arlington Hts.

This week 20 public spirited business firms of Arlington Hts. joined a nationwide National Highway Safety program which aims to bring home to every motorist and pedestrian on the highways the need for more care and caution to cut down the rising number of accidents and reduce the mounting toll of injuries and deaths.

It may be you

In Illinois alone, official predictions are that there will be 35 highway deaths and 684 serious injuries during the Independence Day week-end. It may be you, or some of your friends.

Even in Arlington Heights and vicinity, there has been a marked increase in motor accidents, resulting in serious injuries in some cases, but almost always in expensive property damage. Insurance companies hesitate to take risks in certain types of coverage under present rates.

Governor backs drive

In view of the situation, Governor Green has issued a proclamation endorsing support of the campaign. His message reads:

"I heartily endorse this campaign: Death, injury, and property damage on our highways constitute a pressing public problem. It is appalling to realize that 33,500 men, women, and children were killed last year in United States traffic accidents, while 1,150,000 persons were hurt, and economic loss of two billion dollars was sustained. Our nation cannot afford such a toll.

"Our state highway traffic safety commission is striving to cut down the number of Illinois highway accidents. Through its efforts, and the cooperation of the public, some improvement has been achieved for the first four months of this year, as compared to the similar period last year.

"As governor of Illinois, I urge all our citizens to help make this newspaper campaign for highway safety a gratifying success."

These firms give support
The 20 Arlington Heights business firms who have sponsored a series of 14 advertisements to awaken the public to the need of greater responsibility and care in driving on the highways are: Eagen's restaurant, Hieber-Muelner-Schneberger, Eleanor's Bake shop, Harry Knaack service, Warson Beauty shop, The Emerald shop, Voss Food store, Mayfair Rug cleaners, Turf Billiards, Mar Johnson, Krause & Kehe, Fred's Meat market, Tibbits Cameron Lumber Co., Meyer Bros. Dairy, Thompson's Cigar store, Sterling Oil Co., Lattof Motor Sales Co., Schimming Oil Co., New Emerald Cleaners, and George C. Poole, Inc.

Master in Chancery to hear possible credits due municipality

Judge Finnegan, Wednesday morning, on motion of the firm of Markman, Donovan and Sullivan, overruled exceptions filed by Attorney Thal in the Sunswick $135,000 special assessment suit against the village of Arlington Heights. On motion of the same firm the judge sent the case back to the master in chancery to determine how much, if any, credits are due the village for payments made between May 21, 1945 and March 31, 1947.

Northsiders to study community betterment plans

Introduction of proposals for community improvement covering the newer subdivisions on the northwest side of Arlington Heights will be made at a meeting for property owners of that area in the village hall at 8 p.m. Friday evening, June 27.

The topics for discussion center around a community-wide program largely begun by the retiring officers of the association: Art Komarek, president; Harold Olson, secretary, and Russell Rathman, treasurer.

Among the proposals is the possibility of reviving the old "block captain" system of Civilian Defense days, to form a permanent working nucleus of leadership in every section of the area. Other topics include beautification plans; proposals for cooperating with other established village organizations, and the disposition of a financial surplus left by retiring officers of the organization.

Harry Robinson, newly elected president of the association, especially urged newly-arrived property owners to attend the meeting, for the twin purposes of becoming acquainted with their neighbors and of presenting their own ideas on matters affecting their community.

Besides Mr. Robinson, the other new officers are James Johnson, vice president; James Colvin, secretary, and Frank Haefl, treasurer.

No polio epidemic this year, thinks Dr. E. A. Piszczek

Cook County may not have a polio epidemic this summer, Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, county health officer has declared.

Dr. Piszczek said that thus far no epidemic has been reported anywhere in the country and conditions were favorable for the avoidance of any severe outbreak.

He explained that cool weather conditions had prevailed throughout the nation and it was likely that this factor was largely responsible in checking the disease.

He pointed out however that this optimism must be taken cautiously as it is possible that the outbreak is only delayed and that polio will again strike with the coming of high temperatures. Thus far, only two cases have been reported for May and June, one case in Kenilworth in May and the other in Lyons, reported June 13. Last year there were two cases in May and five in June.

Recently when Judge Finnegan intimated that he intended to accept the recommendation of the master in chancery and enter a judgment of $135,000 plus master's fees against the village, Attorney Thal asked that the actual judgment be delayed until it could be determined how much credit should be given the village for payments made after the filing of the suit. The judge agreed to postpone the entering of the judgment, awaiting receipt of the credit figures. E. F. Laurin, village auditor prepared the figures, which Attorney Markman refused to accept.

Mr. Markman recently appeared before the Arlington Heights village board suggesting a compromise settlement. Attorney Thal and Mr. Laurin presented their side of the story to the board Monday evening. In closing his resume of the entire situation to the board, the attorney told the board that it might be advisable to secure a consulting attorney. He and Mr. Laurin are strongly of the opinion that in place of the village owing the bond people over a hundred thousand dollars, the amount is not greater than $2,000.

The board has three courses: 1. Appeal to the Supreme Court.

2. Accept offer of Markman by payment of $100,000.

3. Enter into negotiations with Markman for the remaining bonds ($300,000) in the hands of Sunswick in which case remaining title to the bonds and future special assessment payments rest with the village.

Decision by the village, stated Mr. Thal Monday night, can wait until after the actual judgment is entered.

The village board devoted an entire evening (Monday) to acquainting themselves with the controversy. It was not an official meeting and no action was taken.

Water ballet club to organize Friday

An organization meeting of a water ballet group of the Arlington Heights pool will be held at 7:30 Friday evening at the fieldhouse. Miss Esther Karstens will be in charge of this group under the supervision of Mr. Vokac. All inquiries should be made to her. The object of the first meeting is to learn how many girls are interested and to choose the hour for the practice of routines and team workouts. Miss Karstens is planning for swim shows and exhibitions to be given here and at other park pools. Participants will have three or four routines in eights, sixes, fours and duets.

Tentative plans are for swim shows July 23 and August 16. The start will be Friday, June 27, 7:30 p.m. Girls 12 years and over are invited.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 22, was:

"IS THE UNIVERSE, INCLUDING MAN, EVOLVED BY ATOMIC FORCE?"

The Golden Text was:
"Thou, Lord, in the beginning hast laid the foundation of the earth; and the heavens are the works of thine hands." (Heb. 1:10).
Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible:
"I am the Lord, and there is none else, there is no God beside me: I girded thee, though thou hast not known me: . . . I have made the earth and created man upon it: I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens, and all their host have I commanded. . . . For thus saith the Lord that created the heavens: God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited: I am the Lord; and there is none else." (Isa. 45: 5, 12, 18).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"God creates and governs the universe, including man. The universe is filled with spiritual ideas which He evolves, and they are obedient to the Mind that makes them. . . . The universe, like man, is to be interpreted by Science from its divine Principle, God, and then it can be understood; but when explained on the basis of physical sense and represented as subject to growth, maturity, and decay, the universe, like man, is, and must continue to be, an enigma. . . . All things are created spiritually. Mind, not matter, is the creator. Love, the divine Principle, is the Father and Mother of the universe, including man." (pp. 295, 124, 256).

Procrastination

By C. W. Lussman of Sieburg Drug Co.
Procrastination is a malady from which most of mankind suffers in some degree. Putting things off becomes a habit easy to acquire, hard to break. In small matters no real harm is done.
But when we get into the habit of putting off a visit to the doctor we are courting real trouble. Unfortunately we are not always aware immediately of the real danger that confronts us until suddenly we find ourselves ill with a series of complications, involving loss of health, time and money.
Nor should we put off taking the medicine prescribed by the doctor at the time and in the amount he orders.

Chicago and Northern Illinois . . . Future Medical Capital of the World

Already known throughout the world for its schools of medicine, institutes of scientific research, and large, well-staffed hospitals, the Chicago and Northern Illinois area will continue to attract important men of medicine from the world over.

Today, the area is the site of four medical and three dental schools of highest standing. Practical training is carried on in the 174 hospitals, and 27 sanitariums and infirmaries containing 71,349 beds. Here, also, are the homes of a dozen national and international organizations in medicine and related fields. The territory is now the world center for medical information . . . more than forty medical and allied journals are published here.

Within the next few years, Chicago and Northern Illinois is destined to rank above all the great medical centers in history. Three tremendous expansion programs are far beyond the planning stage with most of the land for the buildings already purchased. Public and private sources have pledged additional funds for the establishment of new medical facilities, hospitals and laboratories to cover many acres of land and to cost hundreds of millions of dollars.

In the Medical Center District project, the University of Illinois and Loyola University, the State Department of Public Welfare and the Veterans' Administration will erect a community of new buildings for the study of public health, industry and aviation medicine. In another of these vast programs, Northwestern University plans ten new buildings, including an Institute for Medical Research in such fields as heart ailments, cancer and high blood pressure. Other build- ings in this group will enlarge the facilities for special medical studies, hospital care and the nursing school. As part of this project the Veterans' Administration will erect a hospital, and Mercy Hospital will install a one thousand bed hospital unit and a research center.

At the University of Chicago still another of these expansion programs is under way. Four new clinic buildings and four buildings for atomic research, including the Institute of Radiobiology and Bio-physics, will be added. Extensive investiga- tion will be conducted into the new possibilities in medicine, particularly in cancer, opened by the development of atomic research. Throughout all of Chicago and Northern Illinois many other groups have announced plans totaling more than 200 million dollars for hospital facilities.

Students and doctors seeking opportunities for research, advanced study, and actual training under foremost physicians and surgeons will turn to the many hospitals and schools here. As the land is being cleared in multi-million dollar programs, and as the finest hospital and laboratory equipment in the world pours in, future world leadership in the field of medicine is assured for Chicago and Northern Illinois.

Industries in this area have these outstanding advantages: Railroad Center of the United States • World Airport • Inland Waterways • Geographical Center of U. S. Population • Great Financial Center • The "Great Central Market" • Food Producing and Processing Center • Leader in Iron and Steel Manufacturing • Good Labor Relations Record • 2,500,000 Kilowatts of Power • Tremendous Coal Reserves • Good Government • Good Living • Good Services for Tax Dollars. Send for free booklets contain- ing useful information on these advantages.

Cub scout statue on display at local stores

A life size statue of a Cub Scout is now on display in the show window of Public Service office, Arlington Heights. This statue was created by Eugene Romeo of Park Ridge and presented by the Northwest Suburban Council to the National Cub Scouting Service, Boy Scouts of America, at the Wel-E-Ka-How, a huge Cub Leader's Training meeting at Lake Geneva, June 6, 7 and 8. The statue will be displayed throughout the Northwest Suburban Council before being shipped to the National Office.

Mr. Romeo used four Cub Scouts as the model. The statue is 4' 6" high, which is found to be the average height of a Cub scout, and it is made in plaster from the original model in clay. The statue will be displayed in other communities as Haberdashery, 37 W. Slade, Palatine, July 8 to 12.

Brightly striped rayon jersey, perfect extra dress for the vacationer.

No matter how carefully you plan your vacation wardrobe, you always need an "extra" dress. A multi-colored striped jersey such as the one pictured above by a New York designer, will be a life-saver on many spur-of-the-moment occasions. Its simple, casual lines can be dressed up or down, as required, with a wide variety of accessories. And it has the added virtue of practicality — nothing could be easier to pack and wear.

Mrs. Paul Patrick presented the communion set on behalf of the Women's Society for Christian Service and it was accepted on behalf of the church by Elmer Carncross and dedicated by the minister, Rev. Milo J. Vondra.

This beautiful memorial was given in memory of Mrs. Mary H. Crofoot, a member of long standing in the church. The gift was made possible through the contributions of the Women's Society for Christian Service, the Sunday church school and interested friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Arne B. Moe, who have been Arlington Heights residents for the past five years, will leave the latter part of this month for Kansas City, Mo. Mr. Moe, who is associated with the Aetna Fire Insurance Company, has been transferred to Kansas City, where he will be in charge of seven states for the Aetna Co.

School Bond Issue Carries; Low Bids Announced

Voters of Bensenville school district 2 Tuesday overwhelmingly approved two propositions, the first authorizing the construction of an addition to the Tioga school building, and the second providing for $350,000 bond issue to cover the cost of building. Despite unfavorable weather to discourage voters from going to the polls, 184 ballots were cast with the first proposition being approved by a vote of 145 to 33, the second by a vote of 142 to 33. There were a few spoiled ballots.

On the basis of competitive bidding, at a meeting of the school board this week, the bonds were awarded to Barcus, Kindred & Co., and the Municipal Bond Co., both of Chicago. Both were low bidders and the award was made on a joint bid basis. The interest rate is announced as exceedingly favorable, a rate of 2 1/2 per cent for first six maturities and 2 3/4 per cent on the balance. This compares with a present rate of 3 1/2 per cent on remaining Tioga school bonds.

Under present plans, the school board expects to dispose of only $323,000 of the bonds which is deemed sufficient to carry out the project. The rest will be issued later, if needed.

Actual construction will not take place until next year. In the meantime, the finishing touches will be made on plans and specifications by E. Norman Brydges, the architect.

Wood Dale Tot Is Unconscious For Three Days

In a critical condition at the Elmhurst hospital, Helmut Frisch, 4 year old grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Birgel, Wood Dale, regained consciousness Wednesday afternoon after being struck by a car late Sunday. He is suffering from internal injuries.

The youth was playing with his sister at Ash st. and Irving Park Road Sunday evening when he darted out in front of a car driven by Al Sofka, 18, of Wood Dale, returning from Bensenville. Sofka, who has been freed from blame in the accident, was driving slowly and tried to avoid the child. He made a sharp jack-knife turn, but the youngster kept on running and was clipped by the rear of the car.

Officer Harry Kolze, county highway police, was passing by at the time and handled the accident. An ambulance was called and the boy rushed to the hospital. Sofka was not held.

A second accident of the week was the narrow escape of Dave Richter, 9 year old of Wood Dale, who was hit while riding a bicycle on the highway. Although he was uninjured, his bike, a gift he had just received, was smashed.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hees of Arlington Heights announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth, to Ernest Witte, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Witte of Mt. Prospect.

Open house

Open house was held Sunday,
June 8, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Moehling of Arlington Heights, parents of Melvin Moehling who recently married Miss Ruth Wikman. 150 guests viewed the opening of the gifts by the bride and groom. Colored movies were taken throughout the afternoon by the bride's father, Mr. Gottfrid Wikman. These movies were shown on the screen two weeks later at another open house at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gottfrid Wikman. Refreshments were served after 54 guests saw the gifts.

Piano recital

The piano recital given by the pupils of Miss Celia Hausam Tuesday evening, June 17, in Arlington Heights Field House was enjoyed by a very large and enthusiastic audience. Many words of praise and credit were given both teacher and pupils.

Black crepe combined with black and white print for an overskirted one-piece dress.

THE woman who is fashion-and-budget conscious will like such dresses as the one pictured above for more than one reason. First of all, it is typical of modestly-priced
New York fashions showing a leading trend of the season—in this case, the newly-returned and feminine overskirt. Again, the dress combines the practicality of the basic black crepe and the prettiness of print, making it an all-purpose costume. As for coolness, the neckline speaks for itself, the sleeves are brief, and the overskirt eliminates the need for anything more than a chemise beneath.

10th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Malzahn of Arlington Heights were pleasantly surprised on their 10th wedding anniversary last Thursday night when a group of Cremery Package employees and relatives came into help celebrate this anniversary. After an enjoyable evening a delicious midnight supper was served.

a laugh success, judging from the rehearsal fun. A cast of characters follows, to give a sneak preview of the fun to come:

The bride — Martin Freeman.
The groom — Mrs. Liehne.

FALSE ARREST

Carlton E. Leighty and John Hynes have sued C. N. Behrens,
J. E. Albrecht and J. Burreiter in the Superior court for $25,- 000 damages for alleged false arrest. They charge that on November 11 Albrecht and Burreiter State police, arrested them in Wheeling charging they were hunting next to the road. They were taken to Arlington Heights to Justice Behrens office and locked up without a warrant.
They claim they were offered freedom on payment of a $25 fine but refused to pay. They were later allowed bail, but held for trial which later was abandoned.

Onion Flavoring

The flavoring substance of onion is an oil that blends with other fats and oils in food. Therefore, a good way to capture and extend the full flavor in stews or stuffings is to heat chopped onion in a little fat a few minutes and then add the other ingredients. The same principle applies to salads. Add chopped onion to the oil dressing, and allow it to stand an hour or so before dressing the salad.

Court clears title on property in Mt. Prospect

Superior Judge Robert E. Crowe last week entered a decree clearing the title to vacant property across the street from the greenhouse of Fred W. Busse in Mt. Prospect, owned jointly by Fred and his two brothers, Arthur W. and Alfred H. Busse, from clouds upon it dating back to 1885.

Fred, who lives at 304 East Evergreen, Mt. Prospect, testified before Master in Chancery Llewellyn A. Wescott that the property has been used for growing in connection with the greenhouse since 1929, when it was deeded over to Louis C. Busse, father of the present owners, by Louis and Mary Bussiere. They had used it for pasture during the preceding 10 years, he testified.

The taxes have been paid during this period by the titleholders, who have been in open and notorious possession, the court found.

The earliest cloud upon the title was a tax deed obtained by one Temperance Jones in 1885. His heirs are listed as unknown. Another is John Jesse, who received a deed in 1887 from B. F. Henniken as security for a $500 mortgage, collection of which has long been barred by the statute of limitations, the decree found.

E. H. Deike has 74th birthday

E. H. Deike, owner of one of the few remaining rural stores in northwest Cook county was 74 years old Wednesday, when he received congratulations of friends and neighbors at his home and store on Route 53, near WGN tower. Mr. Deike opened a creamery and store fifty years ago. The creamery was discontinued 14 years later. He has been a director and vice president of Itasca State Bank for 31 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Deike will celebrate their golden wedding July 22. They have one daughter, Mrs. Herman H. Kastning, one grandchild and two great grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Deike not only operate their store but also personally maintain a roadside stand selling vegetables and fruits in season. Both are active and smile as much as they did fifty years ago.

Council members review scout activities at Skokie

by Arnold Hatch

Seventeen members of N.W.S. Council executive board met in conference room of G. D. Searle Company in Skokie Friday, June 20th to review Scout activities for the past 3 months, and consider developments of new summer camp property on Funk Lake, Wisconsin.

Bill Kratt said the finance drive proved very successful, all returns not being in as yet and he wishes to express his appreciation on behalf of N. W. S. Council to everyone who contributed so generously of their time, effort and money. Approximately $21,780 has been reported: Lake Zurich-$100, Barrington-$2792, Palatine-$276, Arlington Heights-$1856, Mt. Prospect-$730, Prospect Heights-$230, Des Plaines-$4611, Park Ridge-$6209, Skokie $3757 Bill added that a few individual gifts have been received, one of $100 from the Public Service Company also a War-2 service man's parents gave $50 in memory of their son, to be used as a memorial to the new camp in Wisconsin that all N.W.S. Scouts are so eagerly waiting for.

Marty Hapemann announced that several ex-service men's parents had not intended applying for the Bonus but upon learning that a trusteeship has been set up in N.W.S. Council in such a way that any person or his heirs can make gifts of any amount as a memorial to Scouting are now applying with that intention in mind. Many service men were Scouts and owe much to the training that Scouting gave to them and in hundreds of instances lives were actually saved by the knowledge that they had received in Scouting.

A general discussion of the ex-service man situation resulted in Dave Lewis appointing Marty Hapemann of Des Plaines as chairman of a committee to receive ex-service man gifts to be used in building a memorial at the new camp on Funk Lake in Wisconsin.

Bill Miles attended the National Scout meeting in New York recently as representative for N.W.S. Council and says that their meetings are basically like the local meetings here, but engineered on a gigantic scale, seating thousands instead of a few.

Stan Huntington reported that over 4000, four year old pine trees have been planted on the new camp site in Wisconsin and a property plat is nearly finished by the surveyors. A permanent plan and specifications can then be drawn up. Lumber for two new temporary buildings has been purchased and arrangements made to drill a new well at least 100 feet deep; also that advancement is definitely better, five Eagle Scout awards are to be made soon, and the 3rd and 4th camping periods at Twin Lakes nearly filled with only a few places left in the 5th period.

Charlie Parriot reported there are 931 Cubs, 795 Scouts and 52 Seniors registered, but leaders are hard to find.

Bill Forrest is well pleased with Troop activities in the Council, and Hugh Calkins says Barrington is making good progress as usual. Hatch declared the Blackhawk district spent a lot of time and effort to put on a nice Court of Honor program but the parents failure to attend was disappointing not only to the Scouts but to their leaders as well. Byron Foote claims Des Plaines Scouting is right out in front as usual, in fact 3 Eagle Scout awards are to be made Thursday evening, June 26th at the Lutheran school, 8 p.m. and he sincerely hopes that the parents will make an extra effort to be present.

Among Council executive Board members are: Dave Lewis, President; Byron Foote, Vice Pres.; Stan Huntington, Scout Executive; Bill Kratt, Finance Ch.; Bill Forrest, Council Missioner; Bill Miles, Council Camp Comm.; A. H. Whitton, Ch. Training; Charlie Parriot, Ch. Organization; Hugh Calkins, Eric Schalk, John Klocke, John Speer, C. A. Nixon, Marty Hapemann, Fred Smith H. P. Wetmore and A. R. Hatch.

Bill Kratt declared the Regional training course which he attended June 6, 7, 8, at Lake Geneva proved very beneficial and stimulating to all who participated. Al Whitton said Skokie training is progressing satisfactorily, several courses of instruction completed and many certificates given.

Marty Hapemann announced that 17 Scouts were inducted into the Order of the Arrow at the recent Camporee at Camp Dan Beard in a beautiful ceremony and a perfect ritual, which speaks highly for the popularity of the Order of the Arrow, an organization that draws its membership solely from Scouts or Scouters of outstanding service to Scouting.

C. A. Nixon added that if ceremonial equipment be purchased for N.W.S. Council and a team properly trained in the ritual would add much interest and benefit to the Order of the Arrow.

Mt. Prospect pastor marks 40th year of church service

Special services in celebration of the 40th anniversary of the ordination of Dean Howard E. Ganster were at St. John's Episcopal church, Mt. Prospect, where the Rev. is serving as priest-in-charge under appointment by the Rt. Rev. Wallace E. Conkling, Bishop of Chicago.

The ordination services were held at St. Luke's church, Evanston, with the late Bishop Charles Palmerston Anderson chairing and the candidate was presented by the late Bishop George Craig Stewart. Prior to his ordination in the Episcopal church, Dean Ganster served for 9 years as a clergyman in the Methodist Episcopal church in Dayton, O., and at Glenview and Franklin Park in the Rock River conference.

After his ordination he was called to be rector of St. John's church, Irving Park, and served there for six years. He was then called to be rector of Christ church, Waukegan, and served the parish for 33 years. He retired from parish work last October 1.

On November 1, last year, Bishop Conkling appointed Dean Ganster to take charge temporarily of the mission at Mt. Prospect, but because of the scarcity of clergy, he is continuing the work at the present time. On June 8, he presented a class of 18 candidates for confirmation to Bishop Edwin J. Randall. This was the mission.

Petroleum Yield

Since the first recorded commercial production of petroleum in the 1850's, the earth has been tapped for more than 33,000,000,000 barrels (of 42 U. S. gallons). The United States yielded nearly 64 per cent of this amount or about 22,000,000,000 barrels.

Fairhope Farms home bureau

The regular meeting of Fairhope Farms Home Bureau was held at the home of Mrs. John Rill Monday, June 23. All members were present. The six guests were Mrs. Alida Anderson of St. Paul, Mrs. N. Foss, Mrs. K. Jacobson, Bensenville, Mrs. C. Odinius, Chicago, Mrs. G. Rakoczy, Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Bernice Rocco, Elk Grove.

The major project, "Window Treatment," was presented by Mrs. Walter Bendler and Mrs. Frank Bohnert. After the meeting adjourned, a penny social was held and refreshments were served.

Mrs. Frank Bohnert, Secretary.

St. Peter Sunday school beginners picnic

The sun shone brilliantly for the St. Peter Sunday school beginners, when a complete membership, with mothers in attendance, enjoyed an annual picnic on the church grounds last Wednesday. This department has shown a marked increase since last year, under the leadership of Mrs. Herman Schwolow and a group of eight teachers. Work at the branch Sunday school on Palatine road has also flourished.

Annual camp ground opens Sunday morning

Celebrating its 88th annual 2 week occasion, the Methodist Camp ground at Des Plaines, will open its big summer assembly and camp meeting, Sunday morning, June 29, to continue daily and rightly through Sunday, July 13. The speaker for the opening day, morning, afternoon and evening, will be the Rev. Dr. W. T. Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Peoria.

Thereafter, the first week of services, Monday, June 30 through Friday, July 4, will be highlighted by the preaching each evening of Dr. Albert P.

Save A Life --- Be Careful!

WHERE THOUSANDS DIE!

91 killed—3,150 injured! If that were the report of an explosion, wreck or other disaster, it would be front page news. People would be horrified! But worse—it's just one day's automobile casualty list in the United States. It happens every day, week in, week out. Four deaths, 131 injured—every hour. At year's end 33,500 lives snuffed out, over a million injured or maimed for life. That's what happened last year. This year's record threatens to be even higher.

Speed—reckless, wanton speed—drunken driving—defiance of safety rules and regulations—and careless, jaywalking pedestrians, top the list of causes for this grim toll.

What can you do about it? Will the speeding wheels of your car add one death to this mass murder of the highways? Not if you, the driver—and you, the pedestrian—take your individual responsibilities seriously. Drive carefully at all times, under all conditions, and be alert when walking.

Don't be one of the thousands to kill, or be killed. Drive safely—and live!

One of the finest Y. C.'s in the Northwest section of Cook County and for that matter in all of Cook County is the Pirates Cove in Palatine. Begun two years ago, this coming November 17, Pirates Cove is a real credit to the Lions Club which is sponsoring it. The Lions club has long been constructive force in communities throughout the country. They have especially been interested in Youth and Youth's problems. Here is a case where the Lions Club of Palatine has done a masterful job in providing a place like the Pirates Cove.

A great deal of the credit for the Y. C. also goes to its capable, interested, and charming director, Mrs. Newport. Mrs. Newport and her three children live upstairs in the house that has been obtained to house Pirates Cove. She has been the spark, the force that has directly influenced the immense success of the Palatine youth center.

The kids this reporter talked to had nothing but praises for Mrs. Newport. Some of their remarks were: "Marvelous lady," "She's made the Y. C.," "We wouldn't do without her," "great person."

This is a great tribute to the Lions club and to the adult committee who selected the director. Ramble Inn congratulates them in their choice.

Mrs. Newport is also actively participating in the Metro-Chicago Youth Canteen Association, through her that Ramble Inn became a member. She is now serving as a member of the advisory council of the association.

Pirates Cove is typically a Y. C. with students operating the bar, which by the way serves hamburgers, Cokes, candy, and other refreshments, the clean up committee, and the decorating committee.

The Schapanskis of Arlington Heights who so generously give records free to Ramble Inn also give the Pirates Cove all their records too. The Schapanskis certainly are swell people. Harold Stephens is president of Pirates Cove and Richard Steinbrink and Marilyn Herbertz are vice-president and secretary respectively. These three officers are elected and act as an executive committee. Their terms are for six months. These trustees are Betty Nehrbrass, Joan Zimmer, Laurene Colonius, and Richard Hahn.

Pirates Cove has a membership of approximately 175 members. Memberships cost $1.00. Their schedule for the summer is Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. For the winter it is limited to Tuesday, Friday, and Saturday.

At present Pirates Cove is faced with a housing problem. Different solutions have been suggested among which was the idea of buying a Quonset hut. We are sure that the Lions club will find a way to perpetuate the Y. C. and that Mrs. Newport will continue to build a greater Youth Center than ever.

Ramble Inn offers its best wishes and congratulations to Pirates Cove.

Due to circumstances beyond control of the adult and student committees the South Club room of the field house was not open last Saturday. The schedule for the summer is not completely certain. However watch this column for as soon as possible. The Y. C. movement's growing fast.

Interest is mounting by the hour. And before a year is gone and past.

Many more Y. C.'s will bloom and flower. But each Y. C. must continue to grow.

If it is to be of use. And if it is to continue, we all know.

It will not stand abuse. We all must work together. The Y. C. is our concern. And if we do so, Ramble Inn will bring us all a big return.

Winner of national safety poster contest gets motor club merit

Miss Joanne Leckband, student at Arlington Heights Township High School, was recently awarded third place and a cash prize of $25 for her exceptional achievement in the National Safety Poster Contest sponsored by the American Automobile Association. Matthew C. Sieloki, director of safety and traffic engineering, Chicago Motor Club, presented the award on June 3. The following letter was sent to Joanne by Mr. Burton W. Marsh, director of the traffic engineering and safety department of the A.A.A., congratulating her for a job well done.

"You have made a very great contribution in the field of traffic safety with your entry in the 1947 Traffic Safety Poster Contest. Please allow me to congratulate you on your award of Third Prize for your poster illustrating the rule, 'Look Both Ways Before Crossing'."

"Nearly three thousand posters from schools, thirty-six states were submitted this year. It is a considerable achievement to finish as splendidly as you did in competition with some of the best high school artists in the country."

"The skill and patience you have evidenced in the preparation of your poster entry are attributes which, I am sure, will stand you in good stead throughout your life. Work of the caliber which you submitted requires skill and imagination which will not only manifold the enjoyment you will find in working for and with other people. We sincerely hope that the recognition given your work by the contest judges will encourage you to continue in this field in which you have shown definite promise."

"Again, accept my sincere congratulations and best wishes for continued success."

Sincerely yours, Burton W. Marsh, Dir. Traffic Engineering & Safety Dept.

A number of women-parishioners will also bring items for the festival's bazaar, one of the most popular features of the program in past years. Special entertainment for children will include "fish-pond" and "baseball" games, and other game booths will be erected for adults. A free dance will be sponsored by officers of the church's Don Bosco club. Food and refreshments will be served.

Defective brakes on half the automobiles

Fourteen million automobiles are being ridden with defective brakes, according to indications in a new county inspection of vehicles made for MoToR, the Automotive Business Magazine. This is approximately half the passenger cars in use. Many of these vehicles will be a menace to highway safety, the magazine states, unless repairs are made.

Dealer service stations and independent repairshops in a majority of states made the inspections for MoToR removing a front wheel on a large number of cars on which neither the drivers nor their service men suspected anything wrong with the brakes. All the vehicles had been driven in for other kinds of service.

The inspections showed badly worn brake lining on one car out of two, leakage in the hydraulic system on one out of three and scored brake drums on one out of three.

Results of the inspections were not surprising, the magazine commented, in view of the age of most vehicles. Before the war, when 25 per cent of those registered were only one or two years old, compulsory safety inspections in a number of states actually revealed that about a third of the cars had defective brakes. Now only 10 per cent are comparatively new postwar models, 40 per cent are three to nine years old and 50 per cent are 10 or more years old, with owners reluctant to finance extensive repairs.

Journal of a Bird Watcher

F. J. FREEMAN

July 4th (1946) Celebrated Fourth of July by going birding in the morning with Bill Turner in the Elk Grove Forest Preserve. We found many mosquitoes. In the deep woods north-east of the elk pasture, we found the chickadees with their young and the redstarts. Somehow I never thought of redstarts nesting in these parts. We also heard the veery, Northern yellow throat, and rose-breasted grosbeak.

July 7th — As I was watching the ducks at Barrington this Sunday, I saw the family of seven Canada geese take off from the slough. It is really a thrilling sight to see these large birds in slow deliberate flight.

July 8th — Saw a flock of six upland plover south of Arlington Heights along Central road. They start to migrate south in July and are usually all gone by early August.

July 14th — This clear, cool Sunday evening we saw for the first time the American egrets at the Barrington slough. They sailed in from the south singly — a beautiful sight with their white bodies sunlit against the blue eastern sky. When they came in to roost, they swung their black landing gear forward and alighted in the branches with superb grace. Among the other ducks and things we saw that evening were three ruddy ducks, and a young, fuzzy black coot with a red, fuzzy face!

July 18th — Saw a red-backed sanderling at the Barrington slough. The shorebirds are starting to come south.

July 23rd to 28th — Cornelia, John, Peter and I took a camping-out trip up to Petoskey, Mich. We were equipped with sleeping bags and stuff so as to eat and sleep out. This was a new experience for the boys and one which we parents had not indulged in for many years. The boys looked forward with expectation; the parents with trepidation. The first night we camped out on the high bank of a clear flowing stream in the heart of the Manistee National Forest. Nothing could have been more ideal. We spread our bags on the ground under a clouded sky and waited for sleep to come as we listened to the far off cries of screech owl and whip-poor-will. Early in the morning we were awakened as a large, blue heron flapped down the creek and went "quonk" in a hoarse voice like an animated coffee grinder — the old fashioned hand turned kind. We felt so good when we got up in the morning. It was such a relief to get off the ground! Before we left that spot, we saw some of our spring warblers who were nesting in the woods. It was like meeting old friends at a summer resort.

All that morning we drove up through the center of that beautiful national forest and finally out east to Cadillac where we had our first restaurant meal of the trip at noon. We passed up on the road a large bright blue racer snake with a yellow belly sunning himself in the dust. When the boys ran back to see it, it raced off, pronto!

We pitched our tent and camped in the State Park on the edge of the bay at Petoskey that night. The air up there is clear, cool and invigorating, — just the opposite of the atmosphere so common here in the summer. We noted the absence of house sparrows and starlings and the absence of chirping sparrows and cedar waxwings. The bird that seemed to us the most common as we drove along was the kingbird, and I cast my vote for it as the state bird of Michigan. We were also interested in finding the black squirrel in the woods around us. On the way home, while lunching in a road side park near Traverse City found a redstart brooding on its nest in a birch tree. We saw lots of bird life in the river marshes at the lake shore towns.

One of the things that impressed us most was the abundance of clear, cool water found in that state. Such a priceless heritage could be drained off and dried up by exploitation of lumber and soil and Michigan, too, could have a water problem. The creeks so that the water will carry away fast — do everything you can to dry off the land so that you can plant earlier, raise more and make more money, and then take that money and replace your wells which you have caused to dry up with deeper, more expensive ones and complain of droughts. A bird in the hand is still worth two in the bush!

'Be alive on the fifth' traffic slogan

The biggest traffic jam in the nation's history will occur during the Fourth of July week-end holiday this year, the National Safety Council predicted today.

To meet the threat of a record-breaking traffic toll, the Council appealed to motorists and pedestrians to "Be Alive On the Fifth," as the keynote of a nationwide campaign against accidents during the holiday.

Close to 30,000,000 vehicles are expected to pack the highways over the Fourth of July, the Council said, and their speedometers are expected to clock nearly four billion miles during the three-day holiday. This estimate is based on gasoline consumption, which shows mileage this year exceeding even the previous record level of pre-war '41.

Figured Draperies

Figured draperies can be used with figured rugs. The thing to do is to repeat the colors of the rug in the draperies so as to arrive at color harmony. Suitable patterns in draperies should be selected which go well with the rug designs. In general, it is wise to avoid over-emphasis of solid colors. Masses of unrelieved color generally are fatiguing to the eye.

Seek new Lombard phone franchise

Trustees of the village of Lombard put their official machinery in gear once more last week to hasten one form of settlement or another of their disagreement with the Illinois Bell Telephone company over terms for renewing the company's local franchise, which expired last September.

Negotiations were suspended when the company's personnel became 100% occupied with the long strike recently. In the last two weeks, however, engineers for the company have been studying the Lombard situation, presumably as a basis for a renewal of the conversations, it was reported.

Lombard received three free telephones under the 25 year franchise that has now expired. As the concession is on a population, or roughly on a required service basis, the company offered first to raise this to eight then to eleven free phones for village use in return for another 25-year franchise, with more to be added as asked up to a maximum of 15.

Just one year ago today God called you, and you went away.

You said good-bye to none. Your loving heart had ceased to beat; Before we knew it, you were gone.

You did not fail to do your best; Your heart was true and tender. You worked hard for those you loved.

And ever will be remembered. Loving children and grand-children.

Be Alive on the Fifth

Speeding through an intersection stop sign, one of these drivers collided with another car. The force of the crash en-tangled the two cars and they skidded together across the intersection and slammed into a stone wall. Both drivers and passenger were killed, two were seriously injured. National Conservation Bureau reports that disregard of traffic control devices ranks third as a cause of death in motor vehicle accidents.

Independence Day could be observed any of five days

The United States could cele-brate Independence Day on July 2, July 19, August 2, or Decem-ber 6 as well as the Fourth of July, according to historical facts recorded by the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

As early as December 6, 1775, Congress had declared its independence of the British parlia-ment, and on June 7, Richard Henry Lee, delegate from Virgi-nia to the Continental Congress, made the motion "that these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states."

This resolution was adopted on July 2. What is now called the Declaration of Independence was actually an explanation of this resolution of independence of the British crown; and was adopted on July 4, 1776, the Britannica discloses.

The Declaration of Indepen-dence was not ordered engrossed—copied in document form—and signed, however, until July 19, and most of the signatures were placed on it on August 2, al-though at least six were attached still later. One of the signers, Thomas McKean, added his signa-ture to the document five years after it was adopted, according to the Britannica.

ington Heights March 18, 1866. He later established his home at Jeffer-son Park and was operator of the Jefferson Park Recreation parlors until the time of his death.

GROH'S 10TH INNING HOMER WINS FOR REDWINGS

Outfielder has 2 circuit blows;
Elgin here Sunday

was not an official Pete Groh at last Sunday as the Redwings at St. Joe of North Chicago gain a 65th inning triumph, but the Redwing center fielder must have been celebrating something in brew of his two home runs, the second of which came in the tenth inning to give the Redwings their fourth victory.

With Bud Schultz, ex minor league pitcher who had a trial with the Washington Senators in 1940, on the mound for Arlington, St. Joe had built up a 3-1 lead at the end of the third inning, but had pitched during the last 3 years had control trouble and after luckily escaping with little damage was relieved by pitcher who allowed but 5 hits in the last six innings.

Groh's first home run, a long one in the fifth inning. The Redwings were behind 3-2 at the time and the four biter got the score momentarily. St. Joe failed again in the sixth. After Peeters and Simpson combined for a run in the seventh, an eighth inning double by Rosek with Schewe on base put the Redwings ahead for the first time.

The visitors would not give up even though they had two out at the ninth. With a runner on second, Schaefer had two strikes on the batter who would have been the third out, but the hitter singled home the run to establish a 5-5 tie.

This is where slugger Groh put in his repeat performance. St. Joe failed again in the tenth and Simpson had made the first at bat for the home club. Groh had two strikes, and then poled a long drive over the centerfielder's head for the final pay off run.

Peeters gets 3
While hitting laurels belong to Groh, Peeters also had his but operation with three hits. What would have been a fourth single as ruled by the umpire or a questionable decision.

Schaefer pitched great ball against the free swinging and hard hitting visitors. He also batted in a run in the fourth frame to help his own cause along.

Next Sunday Elgin, whom the Redwings defeated twice last year, will be in Arlington to see what they can do about last year's 1-5 record, which left them in an unhappy frame of mind.

Wheeling Cardinals
defeat Mundelein

The Wheeling Cards defeated Mundelein last Wednesday by a score of 8-4. The game was won in the late innings, by hard hitting and timely hits made by the Wheeling boys.

Sunday evening they returned to Libertyville to down their bitter rivals, the Diamond team. The Cards had long been hoping for this chance, and they did it by the close score of 8-4, although it took them until the last half of the seventh to get it. High lights of that inning were the fine base running by Gene Koeppen who came in at the tying run, with Gene going on base, then a walk to Gene and a scorching single by Gene Matteoni brought Gene in to hit the winning run.

The next game at Libertyville will be on Wednesday evening, July 2 at 9 p.m. when they will get the last North Side A. C. der lights.

Distribution of prizes for amateurs at All-American golf

In the selection of prizes for men and women amateurs competing in the All-American Golf Tournament, to be held at Tam O'Shanter Country Club on July 3-6, 1947, and in the distribution of these prizes, the committee charged was confronted with the difficulty of obtaining merchandise having equal differential and spread in value over the 20 places for the men and the 15 places for the women. Therefore, it was decided to select prizes, which will consist of watches, in five price brackets with four prizes in each bracket for the men and three for the women.

The prizes for women amateurs playing in the Women's Open All-American Tournament will be distributed similarly to that for the men, each woman being given her choice of merchandise in the price bracket in which she places, the order of choice being in order of placing.

The merchandise prizes, including course records and cash, to 18th pin, will aggregate $1,900.00 in retail value for the men and $1,565.00 for the women.

Prizes for the professional players, both men and women, will be awarded in the conventional manner and will be in cash. In the Women's Open, the prize money to professionals will be awarded strictly in accordance with the places won.

For example, to win the first place prize of $1,000.00 cash, the player must win first place in the tournament. As another example, the fifth place winner if an amateur will receive a merchandise prize, but if a professional she will receive the $200 cash award even where one of the higher cash prizes has not been awarded because of the place having been won by an amateur.

National golf tourney to benefit injured veterans

The $15,900 Chicago victory national golf championships start next Thursday (June 26) at Westward-Ho golf club (Wolf rd. at North avenue in Elmhurst, Ill.). The tournament is the fifth renewal of a wartime program to raise money through golf for hospitalized veterans. The classic will consist of 72 holes medal play, 18 holes each day, Thursday through Sunday. Professionals and amateurs will also team up for a 72 hole pro-amateur championship.

The open crown is up for grabs as Byron Nelson, who capped it in 1945 at Calumet C. C. and in 1946 at Medinah C. C., has abdicated. Frank Stranahan holds the amateur title and will defend if he does not leave for England and the British Open. Jim Ferrier and Mike Stearnchik will defend their pro-amateur title.

Daily admission will be $1.50 plus federal tax. Net proceeds will be used to build golf courses at veterans hospitals. Since Pearl Harbor $137,639.37 has been raised through CDGA co-sponsored events for rehabilitation. This is the finest war record of any sectional golf association in the country. The money has been spent to construct a nine hole golf course and club house at Great Lakes Naval hospital, a nine hole course and club house at Hines Veterans hospital, two 18 hole putting clocks at Hines, one 18 hole putting clock at Downey hospital, plus equipment to maintain and play these courses.

Special golf show before tourney

The professional golfers' association will stage one of their popular golf clinics at Westward-Ho golf club (Wolf road at No. avenue, Elmhurst, Ill.) next Wednesday (June 25), the day preceding the Chicago Victory National golf championships.

Auto racing at Aurora Sunday

Big car championship auto races will be featured at the Aurora Downs half-mile dirt speedway again on Sunday afternoon, June 29.

The Aurora race meets have attracted many of the topnotch dirt track drivers of the country, and some new faces will be seen on June 29. Word of the fat purse has spread rapidly, and several Pacific Coast speedsters have sent for entry blanks for the coming events. Bruce Bromme, Los Angeles, owner of two fast Offenhausers, may rush his cars into Aurora for the June 29 classic, and a healthy crack at the Wilburn crown.

Veterans' insurance reinstatement date drawing near Veterans in the Illinois region who allowed their National Service Life Insurance to lapse have reinstated a total of 5,394 policies since the deadline for G. I. Insurance was extended on February 3 of this year, Veterans Administration officials announced today.

Less than 7 weeks remain for veterans to reinstate their NSLI. To reinstate term insurance, a veteran may do so by paying only two monthly premiums and completing the comparative health statement which shows his health is as good as it was when the policy lapsed. Applications must be submitted on or before August 1, 1947 or within three months of the date of lapse.

Equipoise Mile is Saturday feature at Arlington Park

Nearly thirty thousand fans nearly filled the Arlington Park race track last Saturday to see the long shot With Pleasure take the feature race of the day from the mighty Armed, the Calumet Stables Champion.

But despite his defeat Armed proved himself a great horse by carrying 132 pounds; in a 6 furlong sprint, which is not his favorite distance and being a fast finishing second to With Pleasure which ran the 6 furlongs in close to a record time.

On Monday of this week the crowd was treated to a real thrill when the Calumet sprightly filly Bewitched set a new track record for 5½ furlongs in winning the Pollyanna stakes as she pleased and hanging her fourth straight victory.

The little filly looks to be one of the finest race horses of recent years with the ability to get out there and keep on going and if she can retain her present form there doesn't appear to be anything in the two year old class that can even give her a good argument.

A goodly number of favorites are coming down in front at Arlington this year which makes the form players happy and there are also some long shots popping in at good odds which makes the long shot fan cheer loud and long.

Gay crowds

More than ever before Arlington Park this year seems to be the mecca for people vacationing in Chicagoland. Every day throngs of folks, vacation-bent, throng to the big race course and mingle with the regulars.

Many are the compliments paid the beautiful and comfortable Arlington Park by the visitors, many of whom are seeing it for the first time and who have to get used to the "swing" of the procedure at a race track, such as how to read the big odds board, diagnose a racing form and all the other details which are routine to the "regulars."

But the big crowds are having a fine time and the opening weeks attendance was greater than last year, which was the greatest racing year in history.

Equipoise mile

The feature race of the week end will be the Equipoise prize for three year olds and up for an added purse of $30,000 and which will draw an entry list of the fastest horses in this part of the country.

On Monday of next week three year olds and up fillies and mares will have their chance at the big money in the $25,000 added Modesty Stakes at six furlongs.

These two big stakes are sure to draw an entry list of the country's best speedsters and will give the racing fans a chance to see two of the speediest and most hotly contested races of the year.

1st come get top seats at midget auto race track

The new policy of no reserved seats, first-come-first-served at Hanson Park stadium, Fullerton and Central avenues, on Friday nights when midget auto racing is the attraction proved itself popular with fans. This policy will pertain every Friday, except on Friday, July 4, when some blocks of seats will be reserved, on the request of fans. This Friday night, and all other Fridays except the holiday, every seat in the stadium is priced at $1. with children half-price.

There are 12,000 seats; and box offices — which have been increased in number — are open every Friday from noon until the beginning of the major events, around 8:30 p.m.

The spunky track, which has been barked at the turns with hard-packed clay will, it is expected, be in great condition for Friday night when 43 drivers will compete. Trials will be at 6 p.m.; and the 8 feature events start at 8:30 o'clock, including the consolation sprints and the 25-lap windup.

For July 4th, there will be an added feature of 50 laps, for increased purses. This is attracting a large number of entrants. So far some 50 drivers have asked to take part in the holiday classic. Two drivers who narrowly escaped serious injury when their cars overturned at the weekly midget auto races in Hanson stadium, Fullerton and Central avenues, last Friday night, have been released from the hospital and are entered in this week's events.

Leo Melcher of Joliet, and Don Hanley, are the two speedsters who suffered mishaps when their cars skidded on the backturn during the second and fourth races and both sustained bruises and scratches, but escaped without breaking any bones.

Prep classic at Comiskey park next Tuesday

Chicago's biggest baseball double-header of the year will be presented to the fans next Tuesday (July 1) at Comiskey Park when the two All-Star high school teams clash and the White Sox meet the potent Detroit Tigers.

The prep classic — the second annual presentation by the Herald-American will be played as the second half of the twin bill with the White Sox and the Tigers opening the program at 1:30 p.m.

One of the largest crowds to pack Comiskey Park this season, is expected for the exciting tussle between the Chicago and suburban prep stars. The day has been designated as "Ladies and school children's day." This means that women and boys and girls of grammar school and high school age will be admitted for only a 25-cent tax ticket.

Nothing has been spared to make the prep game the most colorful and spectacular yet. Dick Wakefield of the Tigers, for the city team, and Don Kolloway of the White Sox, for the suburban, have been named rival advisory managers.

Baseball will be represented by such men as Will Harridge, president of the American League and the league's director of press relations, Earl Hilligan, Ray Schalk, former manager of the White Sox and one of the greatest catchers the game has known, will be there, too.

A board of five judges, headed by Lew Fonseca, former player-manager of the White Sox, will select the outstanding player in the game for the Hearst National Boys baseball series championship game. He will play with the U. S. All-Stars against New York City's best on August 13 at the Polo grounds.

The suburban team won last year's inaugural game at Wrigley Field, 6-3 before a paid crowd of 18,828.

Presenting the younger generation

This week there is a bonus in the form of extra pictures. Yes, the pair of twins in the center
are the reason why.
First, however, starting on the far left is Carol Sue Helms, 2½ year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Helms of 203 N. Benton, Palatine. Those eyes looking at the "birdie" are blue. That curly hair is brown.

Next is a little girl with a well developed sense of humor.
In fact, Dione Lyn Page thinks that this whole picture taking business is all a big laugh. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
R. F. Page of 11 S. Emerson, Mt.
Prospect. This 5 months old miss is a blue eyed blonde.
Here are the twins, 7 months old Robert and Roberta Schuldt, children of Mr. and Mrs. H. M.

Schuldt of 710 N. Mitchell, Arlington Heights. They both share brown hair and blue eyes.
The smiling well dressed young man on the far right is 3½ year old Terry Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wood, 208
N. Elmhurst, Prospect Heights.
His hair is brown, his eyes blue.

Marjorie Becker, Geo. Haws tie nuptial knot

A very pretty garden wedding took place Saturday evening,
June 21, when Miss Marjorie Becker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Becker of Wheeling, became the bride of Mr.
George F. Haws, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Haws, of Deerfield.
The front lawn of the bride's home was beautifully decorated with baskets of peonies adorning small white picket fences. The two graceful arbor vitae before the entrance of the home formed a natural setting for the bride-al arch under which the young couple made their marriage vows which were read by Father Murphy, of the Deerfield church, at 6:30 o'clock. The wedding march was played by Miss Betsy Dickhoff, who also accompanied the soloist, Miss Esther Setzer, of Cumberland, as she sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

The bride was escorted to the bridal arch by her father, where she was met by the groom. Her gown was white brocaded taffeta, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and a train. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of feathered white carnations centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Victor Saunders Jr., a friend since childhood days, served as the matron of honor.
The bridesmaids were the bride's cousins, Miss Betsy Haas, of Racine, Wis., and a friend, Miss Jean Salswasser, of Mendon, Mich. Mrs. Saunders wore a gown of aqua blue brocaded taffeta and carried a bouquet of yellow daisies, tied with yellow
net. The bridesmaids were dressed in yellow brocaded taffeta, and their bouquets were white and yellow daisies tied in aqua
net. All wore daisy headpieces to match their bouquets.

The groom was attended by his brother, Robert Haws, as best man, Melvin Becker, brother of the bride, and Alex Taylor, a friend, as ushers. Both the bride and groom's mothers wore blue print dresses, and their corsages were white feathered carnations.

About 200 guests attended the wedding reception held later in the evening in the Wheeling Community hall. Music for dancing was by Johnny Huebner's orchestra. About midnight the bride and groom led the grand march which ended in the basement, where tables were spread for the bridal families, and the remaining guests were served buffet style to a delicious luncheon, including cold cuts of roast beef, ham, potato salad, fruit jello, relishes, home-made cookies and coffee.

The bride's table was set before a beautiful arrangement of peonies. After the cutting of the wedding cake, the newlyweds slipped away to get started on their honeymoon, the destination of which was unannounced.
The young couple will make their home with the bride's parents until they can locate a suitable apartment.

Miss Evelyn Wentz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Wentz of Palatine, and Mr. Charles Buenzow of Chicago, were united in marriage at 8:00 p.m. on Saturday, June 21, in a candlelight ceremony at St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church in Palatine. The double ring ceremony was read by Rev.
Glen G. Gumm, pastor of the church, of which the bride is a member, and by Dr. Gerhardt Grauer, pastor of the St. Paul's Evan. and Reformed church of Chicago, of which the groom is a member.

During the ceremony, Miss Ardith Wentz of Barrington, cousin of the bride, sang "Because" and "At Dawning", accompanied at the organ by Harold Berg.

A bridal gown of white lace and fingertip veil of appliqued net which was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls was worn by the bride who was accompanied down the aisle by her uncle, Herman Wentz of Barrington. She carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Emma Hahnfeldt of Palatine was maid of honor and wore a dress of yellow lace.
Mrs. Robert Notson of Chicago and Miss Lois Buenzow of Palatine, both cousins of the groom, served as bridesmaids and wore aqua laced resses. All three dresses were patterned alike.
They all carried bouquets of yellow carnations and wore a yellow carnation in their hair.
The groom's brother, James Buenzow, served as best man, with Roy Wentz, brother of the bride, and William Schoditsch

acting as ushers. The groom, best man, and ushers all wore summer formals and had bou-tonnières of red carnations.

The bride's mother was attired
in a grey printed mesh dress, while the groom's grandmother wore a dress of black crepe.
Both had a corsage of pink carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception for 200 people was held at Elk Grove Inn. Dancing was enjoyed all evening and a buffet supper was served later in the evening.

After a two weeks honeymoon in northern Wisconsin, Mr. and Mrs. Buenzow will make their home with the bride's parents at 310 North Bothwell street, Palatine.

Jeanne Ordlock and Heinz Rotzoll marry

Wednesday evening, June 11, a single ring ceremony united in holy matrimony Miss Jeanne Ordlock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Ordlock of Jefferson Park, and Master Sgt. H. H. Rotzoll, U.S.M.C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stueber of Arlington Heights. The wedding took place at the Parkview Lutheran church. The marriage vows were repeated after Rev. Hoff. The altar was decorated with white gladioli.

Organ selections for the wedding were played by Mrs. Olson. The vocal selections "Because" and "I Love Thee Now" were sung before the bride and groom. Later in the service, while the bride and groom knelt, he sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Ordlock entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of rose-brocaded georgette over white satin. The material for the gown was sent from China by the groom. The gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice, drop-shoulder neckline edged in satin, full length sleeves, and full skirt edged in satin ending in a long train. Her finger-tip veil was held in place by a cluster of orange blossoms. The neckline of the gown was set off by a string of pearls. Her bouquet consisted of white gladioli with a center of gardenias tied with a large white satin bow.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Lois Petersen, a friend of the bride, was dressed in a powder blue crepe gown. Her dress was styled with a snug-fitting bodice, an off-shoulder neckline trimmed with white net ruffling, and short puffed sleeves. She wore elbow length white net mitts embroidered with blue flowers; her headpiece was a blue, heart-shaped halo trimmed in white net ruffling. To set off the neckline, she wore a string of pearls. Mrs. Petersen carried a colonial bouquet of white and flame gladioli edged in net and tied with a white satin bow.

Mrs. Edith Young, sister of the groom, Miss Barbara Halverson, cousin of the bride, and Miss Adeline Hadoval, friend of the bride were bridesmaids for Miss Ordlock. They were dressed in powder blue gowns, styled identically to the matron of honor's. Their accessories were the same, and their colonial bouquets were peach gladioli edged in peach net and tied with a peach satin bow. The bride's gifts to her attendants were rhinestone earrings.

The little flower girl was Judith Young, niece of the groom. She was dressed in a powder blue gown styled the same as the bridesmaids and carried a

Many applying for social security cards

"I want a social security card" has become a familiar refrain to clerks at the Social Security field offices as the annual flood of young people looking for their first summer jobs begins.

"If you have ever gotten a social security number," office manager advises, "do not apply for a new one. Look up your old card. If you cannot find it, then apply for a duplicate card bearing the same number as your original one. If you have the stub, or lower part, of your original, we can issue a duplicate without delay. Application forms for either an original or a duplicate number may be obtained at our office in Room 408 or at your local post office. Mail applications will be given prompt attention."

Everyone applying for social security account cards, the manager said, should be prepared to give certain required information, such as date and place of birth, father's name and mother's name.

People who wish assistance in completing an application may contact the social security representative in Room 6, Post Office Building, Des Plaines, Tuesday, June 24 from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon. This itinerant service is provided every second and fourth Tuesday for residents of the towns along Northwest highway.

Clean Sweep

A clean broom, like a new one, sweeps clean. To keep a broom clean and in good condition, dip it in medium warm soap suds, rinse thoroughly, and hang by the handle to dry. When not in use the broom should hang so that the straw does not rest directly on the floor.

Questions on G. I. bill

Question: I have recently passed the Illinois State bar examination and have received by license as an attorney, however, I have an opportunity to enter a law firm in order to receive practical experience. Would it be possible for me to receive on-the-job training allowance under the G. I. Bill?

Answer: No. A veteran who has passed his bar examination and has been admitted to the bar is legally qualified to practice law and has attained his job objective. According to the Veterans Administration, it is not authorizing to award on-the-job training benefits to one who has reached his job objective, which in this case would be the practice of law.

Question: I am a disabled veteran. If I accept a job, will my disability compensation be reduced, or even stopped?

Answer: No. Disabled veterans may accept any job or position and still receive full benefits for service-connected permanent disability legal action.

abilities. The basic statutes and regulations specifically provide that there shall be no reduction in the rate of compensation for individual success in overcoming a handicap.

Question: I want to file my claim for terminal leave pay, but I am uncertain as to whether my time spent in ASTP would be included in my total service.

Answer: No, it should not. ASTP-ASTRP is not considered active service in the army.

Question: Are there any penalties for false statements made in claims for terminal leave pay?

Answer: A warning was recently issued by the Army Chief of Finance to the effect that in heavy penalties face ex-servicemen who attempt to defraud the government by misrepresenting their leave credits, under the Armed Forces Leave Act of 1946. Cases in which fraud is suspected are transmitted to the Department of Justice for necessary legal action.

That FBI gets its man proven by report

Forty-five escaped prisoners of war were still at large in the U. S. at the end of 1946, according to J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and author of a report on the FBI written for the Encyclopedia Britannica 1947 Book of the Year.

He reveals that between October, 1942, and December 31, 1946, 2,802 prisoners of war escaped. Of these, 2,757 were located or returned to the custody of military authorities by the FBI.

Ninety-seven and three-tenths per cent of the people brought to trial by the FBI in the fiscal year of 1946 were convicted, the Britannica Book of the Year reports. The FBI sent 11,873 criminals to prison for terms totaling more than 26,000 years and collected over $68,000,000 in fines, savings and recoveries during the fiscal year ended in 1946. More than $31,000,000 was recovered from antitrust cases alone. The FBI obtained 140 convictions for antitrust violations during the 1946 fiscal year, when it assumed responsibility for the investigation of such cases.

All of the 13 kidnappings that occurred during the fiscal year were solved, Hoover points out in his article. No demand for ransom was made in any of these cases. Kidnapers were sentenced to a total of 207 years, plus one sentenced to a life term.

Of 292 kidnappings investigated by the FBI since the enactment of the Federal Kidnaping Statute in 1932, 290 have been solved, Hoover states. The two remaining cases continued under active investigation.

The Britannica Book of the Year reports increases in the number of convictions for extortion, bribery and theft of motor vehicles. Almost 11,500 automobiles were recovered in cases investigated by the FBI, Hoover says.

There were only half as many convictions for violations of the White Slave Traffic Act as in the previous fiscal year, figures in the Britannica Book of the Year reveal.

On June 30, 1946, the identification division of the FBI had a total of 101,578,578 fingerprint cards in its files, Hoover states.

Maple Flavor at Best

For maple flavor at its best, Vermonters and their maple-belt neighbors swear by "sugar on the snow." Hot maple sirup poured thinly on snow hardens into tough taffy. It is eaten with a fork. Occasional bites on a pickle serve to temper the sweetness.

Visual Tests

Studies have revealed that the lost time accident rate could be reduced as high as 25 per cent if all plant employees were required to pass the four critical vision tests—Far Acuity, Depth Perception, Color Vision and Phoria. Visual data, not only on the injured employee, but also on all other employees in any way associated with the accident, would increase this percentage.

Former Palatine girl returns from European trip

Miss Mary Samson, 227 West Lake street, formerly of Palatine, has returned to Barrington following a seven months' sojourn in England and France. Sailing on the maiden voyage of the luxury liner, the Queen Elizabeth, Miss Samson headed for London where she saw for the first time her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Samson Sr. and other relatives. She took a sightseeing trip to Paris and celebrated the holidays there. Having worked for the Red Cross in Chicago, the traveler took a position in the Paris Red Cross office and spent several weeks at those duties. The food items that she missed most during her visit were milk and fresh fruits and vegetables. However, the natives want most of all flour and shortenings which are basic items for their diets. In spite of the food limitations, Mary declares that she never saw so many beautiful, healthy, rose cheeked babies as she did in London.

At Illinois college

Fred Bork, Mt. Prospect, was honored during the Illinois College Commencement exercises in Jacksonville Sunday, June 15, with the award of the Rammelkamp Scholarship presented to the highest ranking man and woman in each of the three upper classes for the year. A pre-dental student at the Jacksonville College, Bork has been active in the Phi Alpha literary society and was prominent on the football team last fall. He is a 1946 graduate of the Arlington Heights township high school. Bork is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bork, 112 So. Edward Street, Mt. Prospect.

Engaged June 19

The engagement of Robert E. Riley of Elm Road, Palatine, to Jeanne Smith of Independence, Mo., was announced June 19 at a lawn party, held at the home of Miss Smith's parents in Independence. Mr. Riley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Riley of Palatine.

Gloria Swanson, Carl Rupert marry

Saturday evening, June 22, at eight o'clock Miss Gloria Swanson of Des Plaines and Mr. Carl Rupert of Wheeling were married. They exchanged vows before the peony-decked altar at the Trinity Lutheran church of Des Plaines. The bride was wearing a white suit. Matron of honor for the wedding was Mrs. Roy Allison of Wheeling; best man was MR. Rupert, brother of the groom. Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother on Golf road.

Bells ring for Ruth Wikman, Mel Moehling

A double ring ceremony united in holy matrimony Miss Ruth Wikman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gottfried Wikman, and Melvin Moehling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Moehling, both of Arlington Heights, on Saturday, June 7, at three o'clock p.m. in the St. Peter Evangelical Lutheran church of Arlington Heights. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Stephan. The two solos "Because" and "Thru the Years" were sung by Mrs. Melvin Moehling who was accompanied on the organ by Otto Kolb. The altar was blanketed with ferns and vases of white gladioli and snapdragons.

Double celebration

The Al Ahrens home on Potter Road and Dempster Street, East Maine, was the scene of a double celebration on Sunday, June 15. The first was a surprise birthday party planned in honor of Mrs. Martha Schuemann of Evanston, mother of Mrs. Ahrens, and for the occasion 36 relatives enjoyed the delicious birthday supper served by the hostess. Mrs. Schuemann's birthday was on Monday when she was 70 years old. The second cause for celebration was the surprise homecoming of Richard Ahrens who arrived home from California in time to surprise his dad on Father's Day. Richard flew from Guam, in the Philippines, to California, and is awaiting his final discharge from the army.

Alice Diekmann, Mel Gaare 'down the aisle'

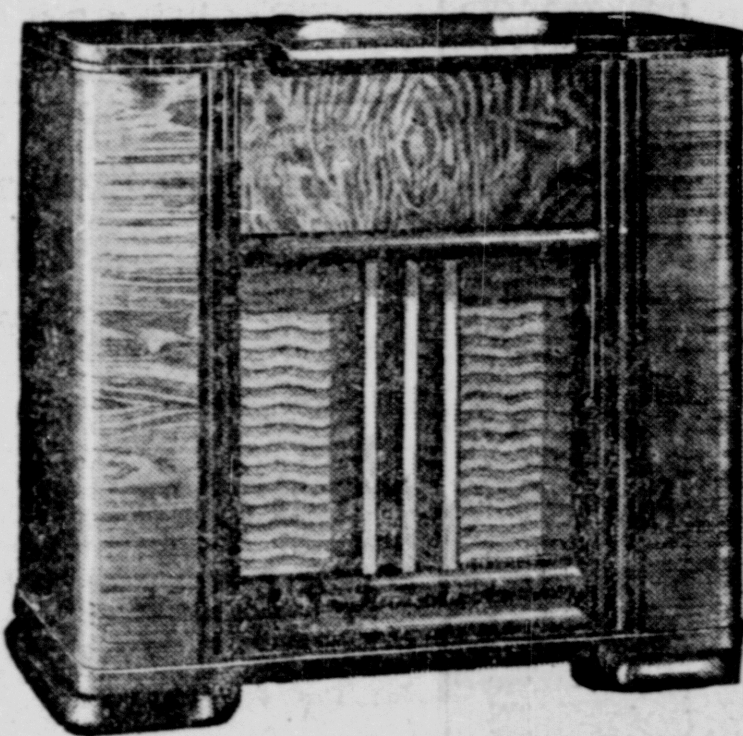

Miss Alice Diekmann, daughter of Mrs. Alma Diekmann of Arlington Heights, and Mr. Melvin Gaare, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gaare of Oakland, California, exchanged vows of marriage Saturday, June 21, at 4:30 in the afternoon. The single ring ceremony was performed by Rev. W. Kamphenkel at the St. John's Evangelical Reformed church of Arlington Heights. On the altar were arranged bouquets of gladioli and snapdragons, and candles. The "Lord's Prayer" and "I Love Thee" were sung by young Lyle Herschlag to the accompaniment of the organist, Mr. Buleher. The bride was gowned in a white satin dress with full skirt, long train, round neckline with net top and drop shoulder. This dress was made by the bride's aunt, Miss Amanda Langhoff. The bouquet Miss Diekmann carried was of white roses, lilies of the valley, and stephanotis. The maid of honor was Miss Carol Wiehrdt of Palatine; bridesmaids were Mrs. Kasper and Mrs. Nelda Meyer. All of the bride's attendants wore dresses of broad satin, each of a different pastel color. All carried bouquets of pink rosebuds. Mr. Robert Gaare of Chicago, the brother of the groom, served as best man. Mr. Laddie Podzimek and Mr. Richard Meyer served the groom as ushers. The groom's attendants had boutonnieres of carnations. Following the wedding the reception was held at the Arlington Heights field house, where 250 guests had an enjoyable evening. About eleven o'clock a buffet supper was served. The young couple took a short wedding trip through Wis. and are now residing at the home of the bride's mother at 9 East Eastman in Arlington Heights.

Announce engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Donald V. Barker, 200 N. Elmhurst rd., Prospect Heights, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Ann, to Frederick J. Harbecke, son of H. Henry Harbecke, of Bensenville. The wedding will take place in August at the Georgian Hotel at Evanston. Upon their return from their honeymoon tour Miss Barker will return to Northwestern University and her fiancé will resume his studies at Elmhurst College. Mr. Harbecke is a veteran of World War 2 having served two years in the army.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

Life is just a bowl of cherries, so the song goes. But, is it now I'm what you call "it" mad?

After working furiously this morning to finish my usual house cleaning preparatory to a week-end of fun, I rushed to the hair-salon, then hurried back and dressed so as to have my picture taken by the local photographer. I see, there's a certain news-stand about to celebrate its 75th anniversary, and bless the publisher's hearts, they want my funny picture to add to their "rogue's gallery."

Well, I can only think that the photographer was so shocked at he looked at me, he gave me a first excuse that came to mind (so as to be relieved of the possibility of having to glaze my countenance for publication). He said he was afraid I wouldn't have time to "do the touching necessary, and have a gloss print ready for the publication date."

I walked out of his shop with a bowed head. I must get all dressed again, and go to Woodstock tomorrow and take my chances finding a photographer with an understanding and considerate heart. Ah, my usual optimistic manner, I telephoned the piano tuner, explaining that I wanted the piano tuned as soon as possible. Well, he was agreeable to coming out the first part of next week.

I added that I thought the

Steal chickens in Arlington Heights

Chicken thieves are reaping a harvest in the vicinity of Arlington Heights. Henry Blume lost about 30 chickens a month ago, Fred Meyer lost 20 a week ago, Aug. Kelling lost 22 last Friday night, Frank White, the barber, lost four of his choice White Wyandottes Monday night.

It is time to take radical measures to trap these thieves.

Itasca to have Red Cross classes

Miss Idaclare Lawrence, Itasca, passed her examinations for the branch of Red Cross work and is now authorized to teach volunteers in the branch of work to be taken up here, that of making lounging robes of gray flannel and hospital bed shirts of unbleached muslin, also the very particular work of getting surgical dressings ready.

There will be evening and afternoon classes and anyone who wishes, whether members or not, can help. Three sewing machines have been donated for the summer and the primary room of the public school will be made sanitary for a work room. This branch has 54 members at this writing and more promised.

Motor club drive to Lake Geneva

Elk Grove Motor club members had their annual outing to Lake Geneva, Wis., last Friday. Eleven machines filled to capacity left Arlington Heights at 9 a. m. and making numerous stops arrived at the lake about 1 p. m.

After a ride in motor boats all around the lake which is 26 miles and a good rest on the shore the party proceeded on their return trip arriving at Mt. Prospect without a mishap at 7:30 p. m.

Heights wins in tenth inning

Arlington Heights won from Des Plaines at Des Plaines Sunday in a 10-inning game 5 to 3 by a brilliant ninth inning rally overcoming a two run lead in the ninth, tying the score and putting two more across in the tenth while Vanderbush held Des Plaines. Arlington Heights was first to score, putting one across in the fifth but Des Plaines scored two in their half of the same inning and one in the sixth and so matters stood in the ninth when Arlington Heights went to bat with a determination to win and did.

Although Vanderbush's support was wobbly at times it was just as brilliant at other times, the outfielders Foley in right, Schneberger in center and Hertel in left accepting about everything that came their way. Schneberger cut a run off at the plate by a great throw in the eighth.

Tales of the STREET

BY T. C. HART

SUMMER AT LAST

Summer has at last arrived and according to the experts it was one day late, making its bow Sunday instead of Saturday which everyone thought was the first day of summer. Well, anything is officially here and it we can now have some summer weather it will help some.

Not having had any spring worth the name a nice long summer and fall would be appreciated by everyone, especially the farmers, who are weeks behind in their work. Just look at those bare fields where corn is just coming up or has just been planted and then picture in your mind the waving corn that used to be booming along to knee high status by July 4.

Yes, this surely has been a backward year, and it will take a lot of mighty nice weather to make people forget what should have been the spring of 1947.

MORNING CHORUS

Even the morning chorus of the birds doesn't seem to be as pronounced this year as usual. But we imagine that a bird does not feel much like singing when he's cold and wet.

During the last week some of those nice mornings they really did get into tune though and the melody of bird notes in the early hours when the sun is just peeping up is really something to hear. A little later when the sun is up and the birds quiet down, but when they first greet the light of a new day is when they really let go with the joy of living and the exuberance of life.

If people could only feel the same way when they get up in the morning what a great old world this would be. To a bird every new day seems to be a new adventure to be greeted with song and joy. To a lot of people every new day seems to be just one more pain in the neck and just something to be endured and lived through.

HOW HE GOT IT

That big muskie that Al De Pue brought back from the wilds of Wis. created a lot of interest and comment among the fishing fans and Al has been asked a hundred times how he landed it. Well, we heard him tell the story of that fish over at the "coffin" house one morning.

Hilding Johnson, sales manager for the McIntosh Co., was telling about how he and some friends fished for days for muskies with a professional guide and a bonus offered to the guide if they got even one fish, but no soap, they couldn't get any and Hilding was interested in how Al managed to have such luck.

It seems Al and little son, Billy were out trolling when Al's boy went overboard. Al thought he had snagged a weed or something and rowed over and picked up his pole and started to haul in and see what was wrong.

Al of a sudden the big muskie appeared at the side of the boat. Al had no gaff hook, landing net, gun or anything else to land him with so after a brief tussle he lifted him into the boat and then the fun began.

The big boy got rid of the hook and started to flop around to get out of the boat. Little Billy became frightened and wanted to go home. So did Al want to go home, but he wanted to take that fish with him. Finally after wrestling around with the plunging muskie Al managed to get him under the floor board of the boat and then with his feet on the floor board to hold him down he pulled for the shore.

Hilding Johnson listened to this story of a crude capture and pictured himself and his friends with their complete equipment, paid professional guide with a bonus offered for one fish, and fishing for days and getting nothing. Just like the old stories of the kid with a bent pin on the end of a string catching more fish than the kids with real fishing outfits.

WE CALLED IT

A few weeks ago we said in this column that no matter what the weather was or what it had been good weather was coming and that when Arlington Park opened the good weather would be here. A whole lot of people must read this column, for there were a lot of the gang laying for Arlington's opening day and ready to call my attention to our prediction if the weather had been bad.

What happened? Along comes the most beautiful day of the year. Arlington's luck had held and our reputation as a predictor was saved, but how those boys would like to have climbed our frame if it hadn't been a nice day.

The whole first week of the Arlington meeting turned out some fine weather with only one rainy day.

THE UPSET

While we're mentioning Arlington Park weather how about a few racing years. One of the local lads has a trainer friend at Arlington and this trainer had a horse in the first race the other afternoon. This lad goes down in the morning to see his friend and see what sort of a chance his horse has.

"Not much of a horse," said the trainer. "I don't see how anything in the race can beat

So back comes the local boy and reports to his friends. "Not much of a horse," Comes the afternoon of the first race. Out of the clouds at the head of the stretch comes "not much horse" coming like a cyclone. It's a 4-horse photo finish and when the numbers go up, up goes "not much horse" number at a payoff of nearly 45 to 1.

And — the horse that the trainer thought couldn't be beaten finished absolutely last. That's horse racing for you, even the lads that lie with them can't predict what they're going to do.

LAY OFF

That story reminds us of another that happened several years ago. Some of the boys were laying for a horse named "The Fiddler" expecting to get a good price on the nag when he won a race.

A colored stable boy, who seemed to know what was going on around that barn and who had been mighty helpful to the boys on starters from that stable, said he'd let them know when the horse was shooting with the Fiddler.

One hot July afternoon that colored boy almost ran all the way to town between chores to tell the boys to lay off "The Fiddler" that afternoon, that "This ain't the day." Came the race

Who Ever Heard Of A Half Horse? Surely Not Great, Great Granddad

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Great, great granddad could ride his share of horses, but a "quarter, third or half horse" would have thrown him. The mere thought of "fractional horses" in his day was fantastic — for to great, great grand-

If the old gentleman could return to the farm today what wonders his eyes would behold — many of them due to the present generation's ability to utilize for farm and home purposes electric motors of various capacities, ranging from 1/60 to 10 horsepower, and including those seemingly fantastic "fractional quarter, third and half horses."

Also, he would know that a motor is a device for converting electric energy into mechanical power; that a 1 horsepower motor is capable of doing the mechanical work of eight men and that its "board and upkeep" would cost him at the rate of 1 kilowatt hour of energy per hour.

What motors can do for less than 5 cents worth of electricity is amazing. For that amount, they can, among other chores, operate equipment which shells 20 to 30 bushels of corn, milk 10 to 20 cows, do the biggest family washing, pump 1,000 gallons of water, run a sewing machine for 30 hours, mix 2 tons of feed, operate a food mixer 5 hours, churn 100 pounds of butter, and elevate 500 bushels of grain. For a few cents a month, motor-driven equipment can vacuum rugs, wash dishes and keep time and perform other household jobs from which great, great granddad and old Dobbin would have shied away. In fact, ten motors per farm house is common and 20 is not unusual.

Proper control equipment protects the motor against injury. Ingenious overload protection, built into good control devices, prevents motors from pulling loads larger than they should, by stopping them before they are damaged. Some control devices also provide under-voltage protection, thus preventing the motor from restarting itself after it has been stopped for some reason. This protects motors from working around saws and other machines against such equipment starting up unexpectedly and causing personal injuries.

FAMINE CONDITIONS

A few days ago I attended a religious celebration in the town of Neuhausen a few miles south of Stuttgart. After the church exercises the mayor and representatives of the clergy took me on a tour of the town so that I could mingle with the people and speak to them.

To give you a report of actual conditions I selected about twenty-five children at random and asked each, "What did you eat for breakfast this morning?" More than half of these boys and girls answered "Nothing." And the clergyman assured me that they spoke the truth. Most of the other children replied, "bread and coffee." Think of that diet for growing youngsters! Only one thin fourteen-year-old girl told us happily that she had had "bread and butter and coffee."

Later on the mayor of the town himself confided to me that on the previous night he had been so hungry that after midnight he awoke and could not go back to sleep because of the hunger pangs.

To prove how tragically malnutrition can affect the rising generation he picked out a number of boys in the holiday crowd to show me the enlarged bloated stomachs and the small limbs which betray the ravages of rickets. It was a pitiful sight and made me resolve to keep on sending urgent pleas that you continue sending your help in Jesus name. Remember the promise of blessing He gives those who in faith feed the hungry and thus in reality also extend this love also to Him, the Savior of the world.

During the past days I also inspected refugee homes here in Wuerttemberg. As you have read, many millions of farmers, workers and professional men have been removed from the lands outside Germany which Hitler overran. Most of them have sought and found refuge in the American zone, thus swelling the population by several million and overtaxing the room in the houses which were not destroyed by bombs. You cannot possibly imagine the poverty, hardship and misery which burdens many of these deported people. I saw one room partly underground and not much larger than many American sitting rooms where fifteen Hungarian refugees — men and women, young and old, sick and healthy — eat, sleep, work, wash and live in unrelieved sorrow. Pray for these homeless masses all over the world, asking our heavenly Father that they may believe Christ's love as it promises "Him that cometh unto Me, I will in no wise cast out."

Yet it was with the representatives of a refugee group that I spent a most profitable and thrilling afternoon. More than 100,000 farmers and artisans were deported from Bessarabia, North-east Rumania. Under the leadership of their pastors they too came into the American zone. Twice the destructive tides of war had swept over their farmlands and now in exile they have lost everything except the few small possessions they have been able to carry with them.

They want to emigrate, of course, to Canada, Alaska, South America, South Africa, any place where they can work, make an honest living and serve the Lord, for they are industrious and pious people. But here is a glorious truth: During these hard years they have been studying the Christian doctrines of the basis of the Bible and with the help of books our church has sent them.

and half way down the stretch came The Fiddler passing horses as if they were tied to the rail.

Up went The Fiddler stood at juicy odds and the boys stood with open mouths, and the little colored boy was about ready to pass out. However, to the colored boy's credit it can be said he wasn't double crossing his friends.

That horse's owner was as surprised as anyone else to see the horse win and satisfied the stewards of that fact when they investigated the sudden change of the animal.

CLEANED

When we saw a famous stable's 2 to 5 favorite finish out of the money the other afternoon it reminded us of the story of a board man in one of Chicago's big bookie joints of the old days. This fellow had worked around race tracks and bookies all his life and he finally figured that he knew enough about the horses to make a living playing them. So one spring he quit his job and started out for Oaklawn Park at Hot Springs, Ark.

All went well, from Oaklawn he followed over into Kentucky and on up to Chicago. Came the Arlington meeting and this fellow had a roll of $3,000 besides having lived on the fat of the land.

PIRATES COVE

It was like reviving an old and nearly extinct flame when I read of the difficulties the youth center is undergoing. I had some months experience in starting and operating a "rec" along with several other interested parties in Delavan, Tazewell county, Ill. If whatever I may be able to do will help in some way or other I will certainly be glad to oblige.

Of the whole present setup I have but one serious and important criticism and that in the field of finance. Even though the money was raised as it was, I (and at least two others) think it was unwise to spend so much for only two years enjoyment. A minor (or probably major to some) criticism is the age limit. In my opinion I sincerely believe it should be around 25 years for the top bracket. If you will read on I will give my reasons. In the first place only a small percentage of us will be married when 21, when 23, thirdly, it may be unlikely to have over an additional 25% hitched when 25 years young. The "fun" facilities for many of the single people are still as limited as when they were adolescents. And if we can't be trusted too act decently when between 20 and 25, will we ever be? So please, executive committee, think over the above proposition carefully. This is no place for hasty or ill-recognized action.

Now to the citizens of Palatine community. Do you have a responsibility? I sincerely and honestly think you do have. It is alright when your fair city does something that benefits you all, for examples, sewage disposal, water, lights, sidewalks, surfacing or resurfacing of streets, etc. These improvements all add to your enjoyment, are an inducement to home-establishers, add value to your property and, as you see it, are an all around good thing.

Would you be willing to do equally as much for something far more vital and important, the young walking-stock which is fast coming up to willingly assume all or part of your responsibilities and lighten your duties? Are you willing, fellow Americans, to spend a few dollars on the greatest asset that you, your country and God have? If you don't understand what I'm talking about yet, here it is; your sons and daughters, promising young citizens who will repay you tenfold for every hour or

Now the representatives of these 100,000 have declared officially that their faith is our faith and that all of them want to join our church.

Thank God for this blessing! This is just one of the many responsibilities confronting the Christian churches in Germany today. This defeated, devastated nation needs the saving Son of God in the hearts, the homes, the churches of its people. The Holy Spirit strengthen each of you to do your share in helping war-torn Europe rebuild with the Redeemer.

JUST DOGS

Children and dogs

Many a mother often wonders if she should, or should not, let her youngster have a dog for a pet. Often she thinks that it will result in her taking care of the dog, but if the children are old enough to carry any responsibility whatever then, by all means let a puppy, or grown dog, be brought into the household.

It must be understood with the young owner that the care and feeding of his new pet is his own problem and that the dog can stay only on the condition that it is taken care of.

At first you will find a great deal of enthusiasm on the part of the youngster in taking care of his new charge, but after the newness has worn off perhaps the youngster will forget to feed the dog or perhaps neglect the animal's general welfare. Right at that time and not any later the youngster should be reminded of his part of the bargain i. e. to take care of and be responsible for his dog.

If he, or she as the case may be, acts according to what has happened in most cases of this sort you will see the child settle down to a regular routine of taking care of the animal.

The result of all this is something that you can't measure in terms of dollars and cents, but in terms of courage, thoughtfulness, companionship, kindness and many other things quite necessary for a growing child to acquire.

Indeed, show me a child who has a dog and you will find in that child the "give and take" which is so necessary in this world of ours.

Chinook breeder dead

To the average person the name Arthur Walden means nothing, but to many an owner of working dogs and especially sled dogs the death of Mr. Walden is sad news.

At his home in New Hampshire, he bred Huskies and developed the great Chinook strain of this breed to such a point that when Admiral Byrd made his first expedition to the South Pole in 1929, Mr. Walden went along as trainer and driver for the polar expedition taking with him forty of his best dogs led by his famous lead dog "Chinook."

The "top-dog" of the outfit, "Chinook," was a cross-bred Husky developed by his owner into a giant size for this particular breed. This type became so famous that in every polar expedition after 1929, lead by Admiral Byrd, Mr. Walden was called upon to send some of his dogs even if he could not go himself.

Dog facts

Science has proved that dogs and other animals are not as sensitive to altitudes as people are. Result, dogs are traveling in the cargo section of passenger airplanes more and more these days and make better passengers than people in some cases. Many a dog owner has found that air-express is a fast and simple way to ship a dog about the country.

Owens votes for tax cut bill which loses

Despite all-out efforts by Republicans, including Rep. Thomas L. Owens, Illinois Seventh District, the House last week failed by two votes to override President Truman's veto of the tax cut bill.

The bill would have provided withholding tax reductions effective next month.

Though 35 Democrats crossed party lines to join Republicans, a minority of 137 votes was sufficient to deny the necessary two thirds majority to override the veto.

Owens, by his vote to override the veto, went on record favoring immediate income tax reductions ranging from 30 per cent on incomes of $1,000 to 10½ per cent on larger incomes.

YOUR DENTAL I Q

(Contributed by the Committee on Dental Health Education of the Chicago Dental Society)

Question: Can too much brushing injure the teeth?—Miss G. B.

Answer: Certainly, too much incorrect brushing can injure the teeth and gums and in all probability even too much correct brushing may be injurious . . .

"Just because a little is good is not reason to suppose that more is better." In brushing the teeth as in most everything else, good judgment must be used. Over-brushing can irritate the gums, cause them to recede and expose the tooth roots.

"Of the various types of tooth brush injury to the gingival (gum) tissues, that which results in the permanent loss of root covering is the most pernicious in its effects because it not only entails an unesthetic appearance, and, not infrequently, mechanical abrasions on the exposed root surfaces, but also, in some instances, cervical hypersensitivity and eventual caries (decay) occasioning a need for fillings that otherwise might be avoided."

Question: Would your teeth grow healthy if you brushed them twice a day? D. H.

Answer: Brushing alone will not prevent decay. It is but one of the procedures necessary for good dental health.

Mouth hygiene habits should be established at an early age. The parent should supervise the cleaning even after the child reaches high school age. It should be recognized, that brushing alone is inadequate for the prevention of dental decay. Proper diet, plus early, regular and thorough dental attention also is essential.

1. Don't embarrass the person by saying, "Why, I met you at such and such a place." Merely say, "How do you do?" Nor should you feel hurt or slighted and accuse the person of being a snob. It might just be forgetfulness, something of which we are all guilty at one time or another. 2. A large bowl of fruit or one of flowers is sufficient. 3. When an announcement is received, a gift is not necessary. Only an invitation calls for a gift. 4. Tales of the Street

One day out at Arlington he saw a race come up with a few horses in it and a hot favorite at about 2 to 5. It didn't look like the horse could lose, but to play safe this fellow decided he'd bet his whole roll on the favorite to show.
According to the racing laws track has to pay at least 10 cents on a dollar on any winning bet. This lad thought he saw a chance to get that 10 cents on a dollar the show end and decided he had a sure thing and that he'd bet his roll.
He rushed to the wash room, dug his $3,000 out of its hiding places about his person and planted it on the favorite to show, thinking it was like finding $300 laying on the floor. Then came the race with only a few horses in it and the red hot odds on favorite run out of the money.
The next day the board man was back on his old job, then the heat got on the bookies, and now he's hustling bets along the curb near where the old Palatine joint used to be.

Auto council still studying of route 62

Erection of two stop signs and two reflectorized warning signs of a stop ahead at the intersection of Algonquin and River roads in Des Plaines was reported at the monthly meeting of the Northwest Area Council of the Chicago Motor Club.
C. H. Apple, district engineer, Illinois division of highways, reported that the installation was made despite an insufficient traffic count, in an effort to curb on abnormally high accident rate at this intersection. During the survey frequent running through the stop signs also was observed a condition which the installation of warning signs is directed at improving, Mr. Apple said.
The council referred to a special committee for further study its proposal to reroute Route 62 through Des Plaines to eliminate several critical points of congestion, notably near the camp grounds and on Keene avenue. The Council's recommendation is to reroute Ill. 62 beginning at the intersection of Algonquin and Wolf roads, thence south on Wolf road to Oakton street, and then east to the present route.

$64 question

Do cows like to be milked?

"Yes, if..." says Dr. George Hopson in a commercial publication. He explains that cows actually enjoy being milked when they have been properly prepared and conditions are favorable. In other words, if:

1. The attention is not distracted by eating.
2. The udder is properly prepared by bathing for one minute in water at least as warm as 130 degrees Fahrenheit.
3. The flow of milk is started by drawing two streams from each teat into a strip cut.
4. The milking machine is then applied at once.
5. The machine is removed as soon as the milking process has been completed.

Other important factors in careful dairy management are gentle handling, quiet working, warming of the teat cups before applying, and proper adjustment of vacuum.

Dr. Hopson says that when a "managed milking" program, styled to the individual herd, is followed with regularity the cows show that they like to be milked by letting down all of the milk in three to four minutes and by producing more milk than previously. Added profit will be realized because there will be less inflammation of and infection of the udder.

The suggestions made, while applying chiefly to mechanical milking, are applicable too in almost all instances for hand milking. The modern dairy cow is a highly developed, intricate milk producing machine and must be treated as such if she is to produce with the maximum efficiency.

New bulletin aids dairyman with barn plan

As a help to the Illinois dairyman who is considering remodeling his dairy barn and equipment, a new bulletin prepared by farm structures specialists in the No. Central states has been prepared and is ready for distribution from the Illinois College of Agriculture.

The writers of the publication point out that when planning a dairy barn, the requirements of the dairy cows and young stock should be carefully considered. On farms where both dairy and beef production enterprises are followed, barns should be so arranged that these herds may vary in the number of cows milked from year to year, depending upon the relation of meat and milk prices.

Many farmers fail to think of other important arrangements in addition to the barn. The size and location of the barn with relation to the whole farm, the fields, roads and lanes, drainage, prevailing winds and landscaping are of importance, and should be worked out before the building starts. The storage of hay, bedding, grain and dairy and other feed is a part of the plan.

The handling, cooling and utensil-cleaning chores required in producing milk make the well-planned milk house necessary, and to make chores easier it should be planned as a part of the modern dairy unit.

All of these points are considered and explained in this new bulletin. Copies of Bulletin 470, "Dairy Cattle Housing," may be obtained upon requests from the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, Urbana, Ill.

In the future

Things to come — Three big companies have combined to produce a new method of combating the spread of fumes and gases through burning buildings. The new system uses a combination of exhaust fan and water curtain which will grip an object with equal pressure. A new automatic lipstick case from style design that shapes the lipstick exactly as you want it; always exposes a normal amount of lipstick for use... Look for some of your chocolate confections to come packaged in green, yellow, silver and red aluminum foil... Margarine can now be made to look like real butter from a device that molds into quarter-pound rectangular bars... So many high fashion dresses are being shipped by air that an aluminum alloy dress rack weighing only nine pounds has been developed... Late crop of cucumbers may be profitable

Gardeners who have experimented with a late crop of slicing cucumbers have found them to be profitable. In the past, earliness has been considered essential to profit. The Union county growers have started their plants in veneer bands in fire-heated hotbeds while growers in other areas have started them in greenhouses for transplanting as soon as danger of frost was past. Other growers have planted the seeds under hotcaps and other protective devices. In either case the labor cost is high. Moreover, these early plants are nearly always subject to the most devastating attack of the overwintering adults of the cucumber beetles. Usually these early plants grow rather slowly and do not produce marketable fruit until 65-70 days after setting or in mid-July. Harvest continues through August and into September.

For the late-planted crop, the seeds are planted directly in the field in hills or in drilled rows. This is done from mid-June to early July. With the higher soil temperatures, germination takes place quickly and the seedlings grow rapidly. Nor is the attack of cucumber beetles so serious as with the early crop. Under favorable conditions these late-planted cucumbers will produce their first marketable fruits in 55 to 60 days. Although the season is short, the late-planted crop may yield as much or more than the early-planted crop. Since the crop is produced at considerably less cost, it may prove equally profitable or even more profitable than the early-planted crop.

Save labor-costs in asparagus harvesting

In the Milford, Hoopeston, Rossville area of eastern Illinois, the "snapping" method of harvesting canner asparagus is fast replacing the old standard method of cutting. Snapping was first done on a very small scale in Michigan in 1944-45.

Lee A. Somers, University of Illinois vegetable gardening specialist, reports that snapping was first introduced in Ill. a year ago as a labor-saving method. It did not meet with immediate approval according to the extension specialist because some growers feared that snapping would injure the asparagus crowns and thus shorten the life of the plantation. Some growers felt that although the method represented a considerable saving of unskilled labor, it called for more instruction and closer supervision. Several fields were snapped for a few days or for a week, but only one or two were snapped throughout the season.

At the beginning of the 1947 season, each of the four big canneries in the area decided to snap at least one field throughout the season and to keep comparative cost and yield records. Professor Somers reports that now, from one-third to one half through the season, the advantages of snapping compared to cutting have become so obvious and so marked that the older method of cutting has practically been discontinued throughout this entire area.

May revamp sewer system soon in Libertyville

Rehabilitation of the sewage treatment system in Libertyville, and the enlargement of both the southern and northern plants will be undertaken this year. This was decided by the village trustees at a meeting last week.

A complete survey is to be started at once. This will include a study of interceptive and relief sewers, the two treatment plants, possibility of a new plant within or outside the village limits. Study will also be made of industrial wastes which flow into the plants and possibilities of pre-treatment.

Late crop of cucumbers may prove profitable

Gardeners who have experimented with a late crop of slicing cucumbers have found them to be profitable. In the past, earliness has been considered essential to profit. The Union county growers have started their plants in veneer bands in fire-heated hotbeds while growers in other areas have started them in greenhouses for transplanting as soon as danger of frost was past. Other growers have planted the seeds under hotcaps and other protective devices. In either case the labor cost is high. Moreover, these early plants are nearly always subject to the most devastating attack of the overwintering adults of the cucumber beetle. Usually these early plants grow rather slowly and do not produce marketable fruit until 65-70 days after setting or in mid-July. Harvest continues through August and into September.

For the late-planted crop, the seeds are planted directly in the field in hills or in drilled rows. This is done from mid-June to early July. With the higher soil temperatures, germination takes place quickly and the seedlings grow rapidly. Nor is the attack of cucumber beetles so serious as with the early crop. Under favorable conditions these late-planted cucumbers will produce their first marketable fruits in 55 to 60 days. Although the season is short, the late-planted crop may yield as much or more than the early-planted crop. Since the crop is produced at considerably less cost, it may prove equally profitable or even more profitable than the early-planted crop.

Corn in state now 75% safe

About 85 per cent of the Illinois corn crop is in and about 75 per cent of the corn seeded is safe if there is no frost before early October, according to estimates made today by the Illinois Agricultural Association board of directors.

Members of the board estimated that the Illinois growing season is now averaging 20 days late throughout the state. The Illinois oats crop, according to members of the IAA board, will be far below normal and is spotty throughout the state. Estimates range from 10 per cent of normal in the eastern side of southern Illinois to 60-80 per cent in western Illinois near the middle of the state and close to the Mississippi river.

About 80 per cent of the states soybeans are in and although they are not thriving very well in the soggy ground, much of the unplanted corn land will be planted to beans thereby assuring it

LAW on the FARM

Liens for the service of Stallions and Jacks. — In 1917 the Illinois legislature passed a law providing that "... every owner of any licensed stallion or jack kept for public service — shall have a lien on the mare or jennet for the service fee."

These facts about this lien are important:

1. The lien will not attach unless the stallion or jack is licensed by the State Department of Agriculture.

2. The service must have been requested by the owner of the dam or by his agent.

3. The lien is not effective unless, within 24 months after service, a claim of lien, in writing and under oath, is filed with the county recorder of the county in which the dam is located.

4. A recorded claim of lien for service takes precedence over all other liens or claims not previously recorded.

This claim for lien must state:

1. The name and residence of the person claiming.

2. The name of the owner or reputed owner of the dam or progeny, or both, and a description of such animals, sufficient for identification.

3. The amount due for service. A claim for lien expires if it is not enforced within 30 months after the date of service.

The lien may be enforced by foreclosure before a Justice of the Peace. If the service fee is not paid, an execution is issued and the animal or animals subject to the lien may be sold at public sale to the highest bidder. The service fee, filing and other fees and costs are taken out and the balance, if any, remitted to the owner. Animals sold under this lien law may be redeemed by the owner within 30 days after sale by paying to the proper party a formal soybean crop.

The outlook for wheat, grown principally in the southern half of the state, is generally good with heavy stands widespread. Warm drier weather is needed to bring the wheat to maturity. It is now about 2 weeks late. The heavy rains and cool weather have resulted in excellent pasture and plentiful hay crops helping to keep milk production higher for a longer period than normal.

ties the amount of the judgment with 5 per cent interest, together with all costs, expenses and the keep of the animal from the day of the sale to the time of redemption.

Provisions of this law are in the Illinois Revised Statutes, chapter 8 sections 51-61.

Better care of farm eats urged for rodent control

If a rat whisks by instead of a sleek cat when you walk into your barn, it's probably your own fault.

This work comes from authorities of the American Veterinary Medical Association, who are concerned over the lack of attention to cat health on the average farm.

On many farms, according to these authorities, cat diseases prevail to such an extent that it is almost impossible to raise cats to mousing age. They rate distemper, nutritional diseases and virus-borne enteritis as major causes of death.

Whether you like cats or not, the AVMA officials point out, the fact remains that they perform a tremendous service to the nation's farmers by killing and running out rodents which cause damage up to $300 per year on many farms and by scaring away birds which damage crops.

"Contrary to what a lot of people think," says the AVMA, "the better fed a cat is, the better mouser it is. Cats catch rodents more for sport than they do for food, and it takes energy and a healthy body to do that."

These veterinary authorities say that a considerable percentage of death losses and cases of serious illness among farm cats are traceable to nutritional deficiencies that can be prevented by proper feeding. Cat pellagra, for example, can be prevented by feeding raw meat about three times a week, and convulsions in kittens can often be prevented by

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

by LeLand Ellis Truxell
If you have been in the habit of looking down on others, why not try to take stock of yourself, just to see whether you are really in a position of such great perfection that you can do it with perfect honesty.

Virginia, a girl on my route whom I should say is humility personified, is yet one of the most popular young women that I know. She has hosts of friends, and never wants for a new admirer. Yet she seldom speaks about herself, or tries in any way whatever to put over the thought that she is so wonderful. She doesn't have to—because she is wonderful.

Not because she is beautiful, or exceptionally brilliant. She is just as common as the average girl so far as looks are concerned. But she has that certain something in her personality that always distinguishes the girl who is out ahead. Her attitude toward herself in her relations with others is normal, tinged with a healthy sense of humor and a finely developed ability for tact.

Often one person tries to prove his superiority by being dominating, bragging about himself, his accomplishments, his superiority over others. Another type of person takes the opposite view of life, that of proving his own importance by criticizing everything and everyone about him, thus shining by comparison in the light of their supposed inferiority. Maiden ladies and bachelors often take on this form of showing their superiority. They exert every effort to find flaws in other people's habits and personalities, and are deeply offended when others remind them of their own short comings.

Once a person has taken stock of themselves however, and realized their vaults as well as their good points, their chances for happiness grows rapidly. Having come to the point where they can view their weak spot in an objective sense, they learn to laugh at their own limitations, as well as those of others, and instead of satisfying their desire to ridicule others, turn their ambitions into guiding their own lives along the lines of their proven abilities.

And in your attitude towards others lies one more secret of happiness. True humility is rather hard to attain. It is an easy matter to look down on others, but too recognize your own faults as well as your good ones, and to learn to look for and see the good in others and to limit them, fearlessly, is courageous, sensible living. Before you criticize others, better check your own attitude and habits.

Expect city garage to be dedicated Aug. 1
